Nixon moves to protect files

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents were posted outside key White House offices today as President Nixon moved to protect files which might be needed in the expanding Watergate investigation.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler maintained that this was "a safeguarding procedure" and was "not to cast aspersions on any individual."

He said the FBI agents were posted wherever White House files were, specifically at the offices of Nixon's former top aides, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman and counsel John W. Dean III.

Shortly before disclosure that FBI agents had been given the job of insuring security of the files, Haldeman and Ehrlichman were seen leaving the White House in the back seat of a chauffeur-driven limousine with piles of documents in their laps. Their destination was not disclosed, but both said earlier they were arranging meetings with federal and Senate investigators.

The new procedure, Ziegler said, was put into effect as the result of a meeting Monday afternoon with Nixon's new Watergate probe supervisors, presidential special consultant Leonard Garment, who took over counsel Dean's duties, Defense

Emergency funds ok'd

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A $1 million emergency appropriations bill to pay the National Guard expenses on flood duty was passed by the Missouri House Monday and now goes to the Senate.

The measure originally appropriated $350,000, but was raised lastweek at Gov. Christopher S. Bond's request to $1 million. Bond said costs for guardsmen had been increased as more than 2,000 were on active duty throughout the state.

He said part of the $1 million would be used to provide "a cushion" for possible disasters that might occur later in the fiscal year.

The House also tentatively approved a $171.5 million appropriations measure to fund state higher education, and a $4.5 million bill to pay the expenses of the general assembly for the 1973-74 fiscal year which ends June 30.

An amendment that would have cut the funds for the University of Missouri from $107 million to $105 million was defeated.

Added to the university's appropriations was a $50,000 sum to be used for a program to aid blacks and other children from inter- city areas adjust to university life.

Funding for the general assembly includes increased staff for the Legislative Research Committee, which

At planning meeting

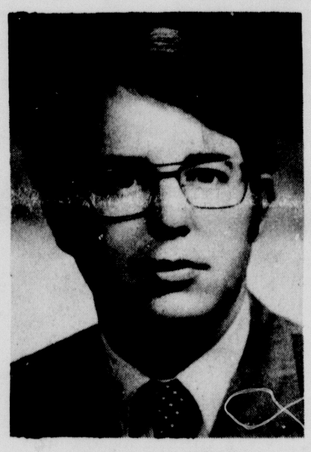

Sikes to speak

Alfred Sikes of Jefferson City, state director of the Department of Community Affairs, will speak at a Bootheel Regional Planning Commission meeting on May 10, according to Pat Lea of Sikeston, chairman of the planning commission.

The meeting at Ramada Inn at 7 p.m. is being held to give more community leaders an opportunity to meet and visit with Sikes, especially since the Department of Community Affairs is so important in the handling of federal and state programs, Lea said.

Sikes, 33, was appointed by Gov. Christopher S. Bond to head the Department of Community Affairs in January. He is originally from Sikeston and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Sikes, 507 N. Kingshighway.

Sikes received his bachelor of arts degree in 1961 from Westminister College in Fulton and received his law degree in 1964 from the University of Missouri Law School in Columbia.

Alfred C. Sikes

He has been active in civic affairs since graduation, having been statee president of Missouri Jaycees from 1969 to 1970, vice president of the National Jaycees from 1970 to 1971 and Jaycee International legal counsel from 1971 to 1972. In 1969, Sikes received the Clayton Frost Memorial Award given each year to the five outstanding state Jaycee presidents in the nation.

He is also a member of the Missouri Bar Association and the Cole County Bar Association.

Sikes was previously employed in private practice with the law firm of Allen, Woolsey and Fisher of Springfield for five years. He also served as assistant attorney general under Atty. Gen. John Danforth for three years.

In addition, he served as Danforth's campaign manager in his senatorial race in 1970 and acted in the same capacity for Christopher S. Bond in his gubernatorial race last year.

He also was a member of the Missouri Organized Crime Task Force in 1970 and 1971 and following Bond's election victory in November, Sikes was executive director of Missouri Transition Government, Inc.

Sikes and his wife, the former Martha Pagenkopf, have three children, Deborah, 9, Christine, 7, and Marcia, 3.

2 Sikeston youths jailed in Charleston

CHARLESTON— Two Sikeston youths are in Mississippi County jail charged with burglary and stealing, following their arrest Monday afternoon by city patrolman Kirk Durbin.

Jimmy Darrell Hicks, 18, and a 15- year- old boy are accused of entering the Harry Keener home at 310 E. Commercial St. Saturday through an unlocked patio door and stealing approximately $60 from a bedroom dresser.

Reportedly, the two returned to the Keener home Monday afternoon and stole a purse containing $6 from an automobile parked under the carport. Keener was notified by a neighbor who saw the two in the carport and police were called.

Patrolman Durbin arrested them a short time later at the corner of Fourth and Commercial streets from the description given.

The juvenile has been turned over to juvenile officer Gordon Galemore.

Murder suspects moved to Benton

BENTON— Two men charged with a series of robbery- murders along Interstate 55 have been transferred from Cape Girardeau County Jail to the Scott County jail in Benton, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Transferred were Leon Orr, 19, of St. Louis and Charles Coleman, 22, of Tarpon Springs, Fla. They had been moved previously from St. Genevieve to Jackson as a safety precaution.

Dennis said the men were moved to Benton for "safe-keeping."

Three other men have also been charged in the murder spree, including Howard Coleman of Blytheville, Ark., believed to be the brother of Charles Coleman, Eddie Orr, 21, of St. Louis, the brother of Leon Orr, and Danny Sims of Blytheville.

The killings began on March 31 when members of the group allegedly held up a truck stop in Osceola, Ark., and killed the wife of the owner. Another killing occurred during a robbery April 5 at a service station near Holland in Pemiscot County and, finally, the April 13 robbery and murder of an attendant and customer at a service station in St. Genevieve. The Orr brothers and Charles Coleman were captured shortly afterward. The other two men later turned themselves over to authorities.

Sheriff Dennis also said Emmanuel Keesee, 43, of Illmo has been extradited to Pennsylvania to face charges of robbery and robbery by assault. Keesee escaped from the Scott County jail April 11 and was recaptured April 16 near Kansas City.

Students challenged to greatness

"You can develop some measure of greatness if you will set the right goals, sustain and concentrate your efforts and if the goals have in them a sense of mission," Tudor Westover, president of Three Rivers Junior College in Poplar Bluff, told about 275 students and their families at an honors reception Monday evening at the Sikeston High School.

The reception was held to honor the upper 10 per cent of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes, which includes 122 students. Each student was presented a certificate.

Westover centered his talk to the group around striving for greatness, saying this is the kind of group that has the real potential to relieve suffering and improve the health of the community and make the world a better and happier place in which to live.

He discussed three ingredients which help a person achieve some measure of greatness.

The first ingredient is the necessity to set goals. He urged students in the lower grades to set academic excellence goals and the seniors to think in terms of college education. "A college education is not absolutely essential, but will be helpful," Westover said.

"You are the young people who have shown the potential to permit you to become whatever you want to become," Westover told the group, "What you deeply believe you can do, you can do."

It takes more than mental determination though, he added, it also takes sustained concentration, which is the second ingredient. "We must make a continuous effort to make our expectations come true," Westover said.

The third ingredient is a sense of mission. He explained this as a calling to rise above your own individual good in the cause of a greater good for humanity.

In referring to Nixon's address on radio and television Monday night, he said that what is on the air tonight marks a sad point in history. He added that government is at its lowest point in years.

"This country -- if not perfect -- is by far the best," Westover said, "Maybe your mission will be to turn it (this country) around and make it the great country it can be," he added.

The area of culture is also one where a sense of mission could accomplish much, he said, as is the area of morality.

He concluded by saying that the world is hungry for new leaders.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the school orchestra, under the direction of Richard Powell. David Blanton was master of ceremonies and Phillip Barkett and Charles Matthews presented the certificates to the students.

LIBBERS, WHAT HAVE YOU DONE!

Aha! Women's liberation is one of the biggest factors contributing to the high cost of meat, especially the better cuts.

Says who? Says D. Gale Johnson, a University of Chicago agricultural economist, leading authority on farm prices and former president of the American Farm Economic Association.

How does he reach this conclusion?

Well, says Johnson, as more women enter the labor force, those who must also cook for their families are constantly seeking ways to save time. Since the higher priced cuts of beef take the least amount of time to prepare, there has been an enormous increase in demand for sirloin, T-bone and porterhouse steaks.

Curiously, Johnson does not mention the fact that working wives also add to a family's income and thus in a quite literal sense are helping bring home more of the bacon.

Incidentally, those women who work all day in offices, shops or factories and then have to cook for the family will hardly call that "liberation."

WASHINGTON, D. C., REVISITED

Thomas Jefferson was America's first secretary - of - state, its third president, and the author of the Declaration of Independence.

He designed the University of Virginia, and translated the New Testament from the original Greek to English. He wanted more to be a farmer than a President.

Jefferson knew Washington, D. C. well. But what would he think if he could revisit it today? He would see legislation for a guaranteed annual income, he would hear of the United Nations, with Soviet Russia and Red China on its board of directors, and he would encounter a price- wage freeze enacted by the government, as the government admitted it couldn't handle the economy.

Jefferson might also see hoodlums looting on the very streets of our nation's capital. He would read of admitted murderers being released to stalk other possibile victims, all because of some legal technicality. And he would surely see where creeping socialism had reached a runaway stage.

Jefferson might see a farm advertised, but he would be amaxed that the owner must sell to him if he had the money. And he'd be alarmed when he learned that the government would tell him how to run it.

If he went to a movie on Saturday night, he would find many X-rated shows listed, and even more "Restricted" movies. If he tried hard enough, he could find a movie such as "The Fountainhead" or "The Sound of Music." Maybe Thomas Jefferson would begin again a Declaration of Independence.

NEW YORK (AP) — Neither of our kids turned out to be a lawyer — which is surprising, considering the fact that they spent their childhood drawing up formidable-sounding legal documents.

When they were feeling friendly they would prepare elaborate wills, leaving one another all their carefully hoarded possessions, ranging from a butterfly impaled in a cigar box to a half-eaten lollipop.

But following an argument they would withdraw the largesse with nastily worded codicils.

Not all their legal papers dealt with the eventual disposition of personal property. Some were geared to the here and now.

We had only one television set and each child was entitled to pick half the programs for their allotted joint viewing time, so a trade-off in this department was common. The party of the first part would guarantee certain advantages — either material or spiritual — to the party of the second part in exchange for TV privileges.

Since Gay was too young to cross the street alone she was dependent on her older brother to take her to the ten-cent store. He generally offered this service as an inducement, rather than resorting to money or durable goods for barter.

The family archives hold this example of one of the formal agreements executed between 6-year-old Gay and 11-year-old Brenn:

"Gay agrees to: (a) Let Brenn see his baseball game from 8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 23.

Brenn agrees to: (a) Let Gay see any program up to 8:30 p.m., same date; (b) Take Gay to the stores Sat., Aug. 24; (c) play 'Rock breaks scissors' twice with Gay; (d) Let Gay read his comic books."

Merchandise ownership was also transferred via unbreakable contracts such as this, duly signed and sealed at ages 8 and 13:

"Trade agreement enacted this 14th day of May:

Brenn, has given to Gay one pennant, the description of which follows.

Gay has given to Brenn two pennants. Descriptions follow.

1. A small blue pennant with the lettering MOHAWK TRAIL and under that MASS. on it and a picture of an Indian at the left. Length, about nine inches.

I still think the legal profession lost a couple of likely prospects.

BOOKLET IS PUBLISHED ON CONSUMER SUITS

A major problem faced by many low-income consumers stems from their lack of understanding of certain legal documents and procedures, according to Richard A. Givens, Director of the New York Regional Office of the Federal Trade Commission.

The Consumer Information Center of Avon Products, Inc., responding to this need, prepared a free brochure, "If you Get Sued ... Don't Lose by Default." The brochure identifies a summons, tells how it may be served, explaines the legal procedures involved, and advises the consumer how he may best protect his interests and avoid losing the suit by default.

Written in both English and Spanish, the booklet may be obtained in either language by writing to Avon Consumer Information Center, 9 West 57th Street, New York, N. Y. 10019.

BALANCING RISKS

Everyone has assumed that the perfect method of birth control would come along to ease the problems of population growth. However, this optimistic assumption is pretty well shattered by the remarks of Dr. Carl Djerassi, professor of chemistry at Stanford University.

Dr. Djerassi says industry-sponsored research on new contraceptives is leveling off and may even decline soon because of the great cost and doubtful prospects of financial return. These are the same obstacles that have slowed the discovery and development of new medicines by prescription drug firms. Dr. Djerassi says if the present climate and requirements had prevailed in 1955, birth control chemicals now in use would still be laboratory curiosities. And, he adds that, according to a recent survey, the drug industry has probably spent more than $100 million in the last five years in contraceptive research and development. It is unrealistic to expect private investment on this scale to continue when prospects for financial return become "more and more distant and problematical."

All of life is a balancing of risks. When we walk across the street, we do so with full knowledge that we are risking being run down by a car, but we cross the street, nevertheless, because of a desirable or necessary objective that lies on the other side. And, so it is with everything -- including drugs. Present laws, aimed at a standard of absolute safety where healing drugs are concerned, could well mean that the drug industry will remain glued to the same street corner for all time. In such a case, million of people would be denied the benefits of new discoveries -- in contraceptives and other drugs that would have made the slight risk of crossing the street well worthwhile.

API RECOMMEDS STEPPED-UP DRILLING

The American Petroleum Institute has warned that unless action is taken soon to reverse a declining trend in oil and gas exploration, "the domestic energy situation will continue to deteriorate."

In a statement filed with the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, the Institute reported that "there has been a sharp decline in all categories of drilling over the past 15 years." For example, the API noted that the number of new field wildcat wells drilled declined 44 per cent between 1957 and 1971.

To reverse this declining trend, the API recommended:

1. The creation of a stable investment climate. Threats of adverse changes in tax, import and regulatory policies expose venture capital to increased risks and should be avoided.

2. Tax incentives to stimulate exploration and development of new domestic reserves.

3. The continued availability of public lands for mineral development.

4. The termination of well-head natural gas price regulation as rapidly as possible, so that natural gas can compete freely in the marketplace.

5. The establishment of specific environmental goals through the governmental process, with private industry responsible for the methods, means and techniques used to achieve the goals given public endorsement.

6. The retention of a flexible system of quantitiative restrictions on oil imports.

7. The implementation of government policies which will encourage the private sector to engage in research and development of symthetic fuels, including oil from oil shale.

DEFINING TERMS

The Monongahela News, published by the Monongahela Power Company of Fairmont, West Virginia, has defined the terms "blackout" and "brownout" as understood by an electric company. It says, "A blackout is properly defined as a massive power interruption affecting a large area and a large number of customers. A blackout is usually caused by a major failure of generating equipment or transmission facilities. The most massive interruption in this country was the cascading power failure in the Northeast in 1965 which began with improperly relay action in Canada. The chances are extremely remote that there will ever be a repetition of the events which resulted in this blackout.

"Brownout is a confusing term because, as often used by the press, it implies a noticeable sustained general decline in the ... light level, which would result only from a major reduction in voltage. Such a reduction, which would have to be 10 per cent or more, would not be permitted to occur... rather, load would be shed on a selected basis. A brownout would occur during a period when an electric utility asks customers, particularly large industrial and commercial customers, to curtail their use of power ... The term brownout, therefore, reflects a lesser use of power in a number of different applications ...

Much was learned from the massive Northeast power failure of 1965. The electric industry has created entirely new systems of power pooling. Sophisticated equipment and new operating procedures have been put into use. The "brownout" is one of the procedures now used to assure that "blackouts" don't happen.

INDUSTRY PUTS MONEY WHERE ITS MOUTH IS

Atlantic Richfield Company will deposit $225,000 in minority - owned or managed commercial or savings banks in 10 cities from coast- to - coast, bringing the total of such deposits in the past year to nearly $1,000,000, Robert O. Anderson, chairman, has announced.

The latest deposits, the announcement said, range from $20,000 to $25,000 each in minority- owned or managed institutions in these cities: Dayton, O.; Detroit, Mich.; Milwaukee, Wisc.; Nashville, Tenn.; Norfolk, Va.; Richmond, Va.; Santa Anna, Calif.; Taos, N. M.; Union City, N. J.; Washington, D. C.

As previously announced, the company deposited $670,000 in 21 minority-owned or managed banks in 13 cities last year. The certificates of deposit or time deposits, Anderson said, help provide funding for minority businesses in the areas where the institutions are located.

"We feel it is important that major companies help finance minority self- reliance and economic advancement through some deposits in banks serving minority groups," Anderson said.

DISASTER PROOF

Safety precautions at nuclear power plants are reaching a no risk level that really strains the imagination to comprehend. Nuclear plants are expected to survive nearly every calamitous contingency except the disintegration of the planet. A United Press International dispatch concerning a proposed nuclear plant on the Columbia river in the Pacific Northwest describes some of the fantastic considerations that have been included in a safety evaluation report of the project by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

For example, the plant will be able to withstand earthquates of an intensity that would leave metropolitan areas of the region in a shambles. The plant site is located at a height to offer protection against even the most disastrous floods. The UPI dispatch mentions that even if Grand Coulee Dam were to burst, the torrent of water could not reach the proposed new nuclear plant. If Mount St. Helens -- 35 miles away -- erupted, the volcanic lava flows and ash falls would not affect operation of the plant. Provisions have even been made for protecting the water intake structure on the river from possible ramming by ships. All over the country, similar protective measures are taking place.

The nuclear plant of a large power company on the eastern seaboard became the subject of discussion about wheather proper precautions had been taken against crashes of missiles and airplanes. The Atomic Energy Commission indicated that the chance of damage from this direction is less than one in 10 million. There is little question but what nuclear power plants will prove to be one of the safest of all human undertakings.

GOVERNMENT MAY BAN VITAMINS

Millions of our people use vitamins as dietary supplements. Medical authorities may disagree over the value of vitamin pills, but no one even claims that any normal and reasonable use of them can do harm. In the case of Vitamin C, one of the most widely used dietary supplements, it is known that there is almost no limit on the amount that may be safely consumed.

Nevertheless, the Federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has drafted regulations, soon to take effect, to require a doctor's prescription for the purchase of vitamins. Approximately 80 per cent of all vitamins and minerals now sold would be prohibited from sale under the FDA rule.

The argument of the FDA and the doctors who favor these restrictions is not that most users of vitamin and mineral dietary supplements are endangering their health, but that they do not actually need the supplements. But since when has the Federal Government been given the power and responsibility, to say nothing of the right, to decide whether people "really need" what they buy? The potential for tyranny in this kind of paternalism is unlimited.

Congressman Jack Conlan of Arizona has introduced legislation designed to strike down the FDA restriction on vitamin purchase by defining dietary supplements as food rather than as drugs. He says: "I don't question the FDA's right to ban sale of toxic or dangerous substances, except under controlled circumstances. But this ban against the normal sale of vitamins and minerals has to be one of the most absurd abuses of federal regulatory powers imaginable." HLH

Inside White House:

Nixon Backs Brennan In Finish Fight With Meany

WASHINGTON– Unless it's a matter of considerable agitation, irritation, or global impact, President Nixon rarely talks "shop" at breakfast with the family in their White House living quarters. But the other day he did discuss labor chief George Meany's war with Labor Secretary Pete Brennan. The President was irritated by Meany's shillelagh blows and rapier thrusts at the Cabinet member from Hell's Kitchen.

This so impressed daughter Julie Nixon Eisenhower that she uncharacteristically questioned Brennan when they found themselves hitching a ride together from Boston on a government plane. It even took priority over Watergate.

No minor matter, this feud. Meany's intimates say he wants Pete's scalp-- which means forcing the President of the U.S. to purge a Cabinet member. And Brennan's intimates say that what Pete says is unprintable.

He says he's not quitting. And that the President will not fire him. For the moment he has Mr. Nixon's support. The President has slapped at the all-powerful labor chief of chiefs several times publicly and privately.

Dick Nixon is irked, especially during this Watergate time, by Meany's relentless attacks upon him as well as his domestic and foreign policies. Rarely can the President open his mouth without Meany hitting him with razor- edged denunciatory news releases.

Meany's official newspaper is loaded with buzzsaw headlines. Thus the word is spread across the land saying, in effect, we've broken with "him." Economic control Phases 1, 2, and 3 are described as "complete, miserable failures."

Meany hasn't had so much fun since his home run days on Bronx sandlot ball teams. But this slugging isn't funny to the President. Loss of labor's support on foreign policy could hamstring him abroad just as Watergate is hampering him at home.

To save Brennan, the President will have to give the Labor Secretary something to deliver to the powerful inner establishment of labor--- the building and construction trades. And Brennan knows just what the boys want.

It's something called common situs picketing, which has been illegal for some 18 years. It sounds technical but isn't. The construction unions want it more than a housewife wants a 50- cents- a- pound prime cut of beef.

If the unions could get a bill through Congress that would give them the right of common situs picketing, they would be able to tie up a multi-billion dollar project with a lone picket even if there were no labor disputes with 99 per cent of the employers.

Now let's look at the plans to construct the fantastic and futuristic new international Stewart Airport near Newburgh, N.Y. Total construction costs through 1990 are estimated to run between $850 million and $1 billion. Every day's delay after "the job" is started could cost hundreds of thousands of dollars. Suppose one subcontractor hires a non-union carpenter to build a small lunch "wagon" on the site.

The unions would like to picket the entire site, not just the little eatery. Under today's law they cannot picket such a project which has multi-employers and multi- unions because there is a dispute with one of the subcontractors.

So the building and construction unions have been lobbying for repeal of this ruling for almost two decades. And they cheered Brennan recently when he told them, referring to the repeal, "You need this and you need it badly... and I hope that President Nixon will be able to come out and support it very strongly."

Pete told his building trades friends that he has talked about this with the President and it looks good.

Meany is aware of the glistening bait. He, as an old plumber, knows exactly how attractive this is to the hard hat bloc. So he knows he's in a fight not only with a politically dexterous ex- union chief like Brennan, Nelson Rockefeller's companion for years, but with a politically knowledgeable President who's probably the only chief executive ever to understand "common situs picketing" and the powerful weapon it can be.

So Meany is taking them both on. He now believes they want to purge him. So he's set to attempt to outmaneuver them in the fight for the labor constituency.

Meany is on several key boards--- Productivity, Industrial Peace and the Cost of Living Council's Labor-Management Advisory Committee. If he walks off, so will his AFL— CIO colleagues. This would leave Nixon with deliver to the powerful inner Teamsters' chief Frank Fitzsimmons again (whom Meany is scalding regularly too), and with the auto union's Leonard Woodcock (who almost became George McGovern's running mate, and who would probably quit too). So this isn't just a power play of pique.

Here, too, the prestige of the President, the White House, the Cabinet, and the power of Prof. John Dunlop's Cost of Living Council is at stake--- thus, the economy of the nation itself. Meany rarely plays penny- ante politics. Not where labor's national power is at stake.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Did GOP Stash Cash in Secret Swiss Account?

WASHINGTON– Of the hundreds of thousands in unaudited cash stashed in GOP safes across the country, there are whispers some money wound up in a secret Swiss bank account.

We have established that Alan MacQuoid, a minor Republican functionary in Los Angeles County, paid a mysterious call at the Swiss Credit Bank of Zurich on February 12. In the long-distance interviews, he admitted visiting the Swiss bank but refused to discuss the details except to say his business with the bank was "strictly personal."

He told us he was close to President Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert Kalmbach, who kept around $500,000 in Nixon campaign funds in a California bank account. At least some of this money, according to investigators, was used to pay for political spying and sabotage.

MacQuoid also acknowledged he had been incontact with other persons involved in the Watergate case but vigorously denied any involvement himself.

'No Comment'

We asked MacQuoid specifically whether he served as a conduit for money used in the Watergate escapade or other espionage activities. He paused about 10 seconds and answered "no comment." He told my associate Jack Cloherty, however, that he had not had any previous dealings with the Swiss bank.

Our sources say MacQuoid flew to Switzerland ostensibly on a ski trip. He left Los Angeles on Scandinavian Airlines charter flight C- 1219 with a group called "The Far West Ski Association" on February 10. Two days later, he slipped into the Swiss Credit Bank. He returned to Los Angeles on flight C- 1225 on February 25.

Through an attorney, Kalmbach denied knowing MacQuoid.

Sources close to the Watergate investigation, meanwhile, tell us at least $500,000 was spent in an attempt to hush up the scandal. Wiretapper James McCord alone deposited $60,000 in a Riggs National Bank account immediately after the Watergate trial. Investigators say he collected, all told, around $100,000.

Mrs. Liddy's

Concern

As early as August 7, Watergate ringleader G. Gordon Liddy's wife rented a safety deposit box at the Marine Midland Bank in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

She also left a padlocked trunk in the bank's "silver storage room." Branch manager George Harnen told us Mrs. Liddy "expressed concern as to who would have access to the safe deposit box." She asked specifically whether "the authorities" could get into the box or trunk. The FBI, however, hasn't yet contacted the bank about the Liddy deposits, Harnen told us.

Our story has also been confirmed that Mrs. E. Howard Hunt, the late wife of the other Watergate ringleader, handed out cash to the burglary-bugging squad. She was killed in a Chicago airliner crash, with $10,000 in $100 bills in her purse. Hunt has told friends they intended to invest the money in a motel rather than keep it in a bank, where it could be easily traced.

Probably never in the history of American politics has so much loose cash been floating around.

Washinggon Whirl

SKY POSTS: The White House has ordered three new Boeing 747s for the President to use as airborne command posts in case of war. The Air Force confirmed reports that hangars are now being planned at Andrews Air Force Base outside of Washington for the planes.

BANGLADESH'S BOOKKEEPING: The bedeviled bureaucrats of Bangladesh are so fouled up in paper work that more than $100 million in American aid has yet to be turned over to the ravaged and impoverished land. The United States has given Bangladesh $40 million for tallow, cotton, pesticides, fertilizer and the like. This has been received and spent. Another $105 million is available to pay for schools, generators, coastal repairs and other construction. But under law, the United States cannot turn it over until Bangladesh vouches for the spending. So far, this has proved too complicated for the new nation's harrassed clerks.

EAGLE SCANDAL: Representative John Dingell, D- Mich., has written an infuriated letter to Interior Secretary Rogers Morton complaining that two accused killers of bald eagles are getting federal grazing privileges on public land. Dingell said the privileges have been accorded Dean Visintainer of Craig, Colo., and Herman Werner of Casper, Wyo., who "were named in the shotgun slayings of up to 635 bald and golden eagles." Dingell says he may hold public hearings if Morton can't explain satisfactorily how the eagle slayers got federal grazing permits.

GAUZZA'S TRAVELS: George Gauzza, an enterprising Interior Department official, has apparently been smitten with wanderlust. Last year, we caught Gauzza taking an "official" trip to Guam and Saipan. He was going to San Francisco anyway, it was explained, so he "decided that while on the coast, he might as well go on" to the Far East-- a 6,194- mile afterthought. This winter, Gauzza spent 10 days in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands-- on "official business," of course.

ERA given 2nd chance

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the U.S. Constitution got a new lease on life in the Missouri Legislature, but it may be only a short reprieve, according to the speaker of the house.

The ERA was approved for floor action by a 7-4 vote in a closed session of the House Constitutional Aendments Committee Monday. The committee action ended several weeks of behind-the-scenes manuevering and speculation about the ERA's fate.

Reportedly the ERA had been defeated in another session of the committee several weeks before.

House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, said he thought the resolution to adopt the ERA had a "pretty good chance" for passage in the House, but added, "I don't think the Senate will change its mind."

After public hearings on the proposal, the Senate Judiciary Committee voted 7-3 not to send the ERA to the Senate floor for open debate.

House Majority Leader Kenneth Rothman, D-Clayton, said the proposal would come up for debate this week "for sure," but said he had not selected a specific day.

Thirty states out of the necessary 38 have approved the measure which says:

"Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

After its approval by Congress and quick passage by 22 states, the honeymoon for the ERA came to an end.

Resistence to the ERA grew as its opponents warned it would threaten the American family as a social unit. Opponents, including Missouri's first woman state senator, Mary Gant, D-Kansas City, said it would flood the courts with litigation and cause women to be drafted and sent to combat.

ERA advocates say the measure would give women a constitutional wedge against job discrimination.

Following public hearings on the ERA that filled the huge House Chamber for two nights, Constitutional Committee Chairman Howard Hines, D-Independence, referred the ERA to a sub-committee to study the proposal's affect on Missouri laws.

At that time one of the ERA's opponents predicted it would be "studied to death" by the subcommittee.

Judical Review recommends that Swink be suspended

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Circuit Judge J. O. Swink of Farmington should be suspended for 30 days, a State Judicial Review Commission has recommended to the Missouri Supreme Court.

The charges brought to the State Commission on Retirement, Removal and Discipline of Judges were made public Monday, and included:

—That Swink used court library funds to put air condition in his office.

—That he falsely accused the local prosecutor of misappropriating $50.

—That he said he would impose strict rules on highway patrolmen in his courtroom because his court reporter was given a traffic ticket.

—That in and out of the courtroom he called St. Francois County Prosecutor Stanley Murphy such names as "Pin Head Murphy," "Psycopath," "Son of A Bitch," and "Poor White Trash."

The commission found the charges to be true and declared Swink guilty of "misconduct."

Swink, judge of the 24th Judicial Circuit of Madison, Perry, St. Francois and Ste. Genevieve counties, has 30 days to file an answer to the supreme court.

The commission, chaired by Robert G. Dowd, chief judge of the Missouri Court of Appeals in St. Louis, was comprised of two lawyers, two laymen and two judges. They conducted hearings in February.

Swink, 67, admitted in testimony before the commission he felt officers of the court should be given preferential treatment by law enforcement officers.

The commission found that Swink wrote a letter to Sgt. Darwin James of the Missouri Highway Patrol after Darwin had given a ticket for careless driving to Swink's court reporter, Walter Sontag.

The commission found that Swink said all troopers thereafter could not carry their firearms in court and the troopers would be required to remain in attendance throughout the trial.

The commission's report said that would be unreasonable.

The commission report to the supreme court also said Swink admitted that funds accumulated for a law library for St. Francois County were used to air condition his chambers, the courtroom and the prosecuting attorney's office, and to partially paint the courtroom.

No such library was maintained in St. Francois County, Swink admitted in testimony, the commission report said.

One commissioner disagreed with the conclusion on the renovations because he felt Swink did not intentionally violate any law.

The commission said Swink was under stress because of his wife's illness.

Thirty-two witnesses were called in the hearings.

The bodice featured a tucked yoke and standup Victorian collar lavishly appliqued with Ciuny lace. The lace-trimmed Bishop sleeves were banded with ruffled cuffs. Matching lace encricled the slightly raised waist and extended down the skirt. A detachable train flowed chapel length.

A lace Camelot headpiece held secure a full- length Mantilla edged in the imported lace. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

The bride chose her sister, Mrs. W. D. Davis of Charlotte, N.C., for her matron of honor, and Miss Jamie Cantrell of Poplar Bluff was maid of honor.

Mrs. Cline reviews history of Jefferson City

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles giving a wife's point of view of Life in Jefferson City by Mrs. Kay Cline, wife of C. F. Cline, representative of the 159th District.)

By KAY CLINE

This is the first of a series of articles on the State Capitol and how Jefferson City became the permanent site.

First, I will give you some background information.

The Louisiana Purchase opened the doors to the West in 1803. Many of the early settlers did not go any farther than Missouri. By 1820, the early settlers wanted full-fledged statehood. The first meeting was held at St. Louis Mansion House Hotel, where the territorial legislature formed and adopted the state's first constitution. On Aug. 10, 1821, Missouri was admitted as the 24th state under the provisins of the Missouri Compromise.

A small two-story brick building in St. Charles served as the temporary seat of government until 1826 where a permanent site, Jefferson City was selected overlooking the Missouri River. Twice a State House was built and twice destroyed by fire. Then a new site was chosen for the Capitol.

A ground- breaking ceremony for the present Capitol was held in 1913. This building was designed by Tracy and Swartwont of New York City.

There are many exquisite statues around the capitol grounds. Atop the lantern dome, 260 feet above ground, is the bronze figure of Ceres, goddess of agriculture, who of all the classic divinities, is the best qualified to be the patron goddess of this great agricultural state. On her left arm she bears a sheaf of grain. Her right hand extends forward and downward in perpetual blessing.

At the capitol's main entrance is the commanding bronze statute of Thomas Jefferson. He is set on a pedestal of granite. The statue is 13 feet tall. Jefferson was the man responsible for the Louisiana Purchase and for moving the flag of the United States west of the Misssisippi River.

On either side of the stairway leading to the main entrance are two reclining bronze figures symbolizing the state's two great rivers. A male figure represents the Mississippi River with the rudder of commerce and the caducreus, the magic wand of Hermes. He adequately typifies the "Father of the West."

The female figure surrounded by corn, wheat and the fruits of the earth symbolizes the Missouri River. Both rivers served as important water highways for the early explorers, fur traders and settlers. The four sides of the bronze bases on which these figures repose are decorated with low relief, representing the action element.

The flag poles are placed symmetrically in front of the Capitol. They are made of Oregon pine and rise 50 feet above the ground. They are set deep in massive foundations of cement. These are surmounted by octagonal plinths of Missouri marble 14 feet in diameter. These bronze bases are fine in design, beautiful in modeling. They are examples of the bronze casters' art. Among the rich ornamental designs are the state seal and the American Eagle. On the fourth sides of each base are representations of the four seasons. A bronze American Eagle is placed on the top of the flag poles, "Old Glory" floats from the one and the Missouri State Flag from the other."

There are two stately foundations placed within the lawn at the south front of the capitol. They are characterized by simplicity and dignity. Each fountain has two basins, a lower of 35 feet and an upper of 11 feet in diameter.

In the center of each, a massiave pillar with appropriate architectural moldings supports the upper basin and is further ornamented with four, beautiful, sculptured figures. Those in the fountain to the east of the drive represent the sciences, those on the west fountain represent the arts. The arts and sciences must ever be guardians of the welfare of the state, so these two fountains stand as sentinels on either side of the entrance to the Capitol.

To the north of the capitol, overlooking the Missouri River are the sculptured figures of the fountain which Weinman has sought to contrast with Bitter's work of the bronze relief depicting the signing of the treaty for the Louisiana Purchase by Robert Livingston, James Monroe and Francois Barbe Morbois.

Weinman has gone back to the times when the world was young and the vivid imagination of the old Greek people, the woods and the streams with many fantastic beings. He has recreated the fabled cenaurs, halfman and half animal, and placed in his fountain these two straining powerful figures are in fierce struggle with the serpent and with the fish.

They delightfully throw streams of water over the muscular brutes. The centaurs symbolize for us the barbaric forces which in the distant past contended with the primitive nature in the fair land of ours. The urchins suggest the joyousness of young animal life even in those distant days.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul David Matthews

Matthews-Mitchell

Miss Terri Mitchell and Paul David Matthews were united in marriage April 7 at 2 p.m. at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church. The Rev. William Ryon of Ireland performed the double- ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Mitchell, 116 Wakefield, and Matthews is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Matthews, 221 Greer.

Snapdragons and painted daisies in rainbow colors were placed in front of the altar, along with large candelabras. Candles were also used at the front of the church and on pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a candlelight gown of silk organza. The bodice consisted of tiny accordian pleats with a high neckline, Victorian sleeves and a fitted waist. The neckline, cuffs and waist were accented with tiny pearls. The hemline and chapel- length train were also accented with tiny pleats, lace and pearls.

Her headpiece was of lace and pearls with floor- length veil of silk illusion.

Mrs. Dennis Wilson attended her sister as matron of honor; and Miss Linda Spitzmiller and Miss Lee Ann Matthews, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaids.

The girls wore rainbow dresses and carried spring flowers with matching streamers. In their hair, each wore a matching ribbon bow. All gowns were floor- length and featured an empire waist and long Juliet sleeves. They were accented with beige crocheted lace. Mrs. Wilson wore a pastel pink gown, Miss Spritzmiller a light blue gown and Miss Matthews a soft green gown.

Denie Wilson, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a pale- yellow floor- length dress trimmed with beige crocheted lace and a yellow ribbon bow and flower in her hair. Her basket had matching ribbons and she carried an assortment of spring flowers.

Jeanette Cooney, Mary Lou Barkett and Karen Crader were candlelighters. They wore dresses identical to that worn by the flower girl except of other pastel colors.

Jim Matthews, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Dee Lambert and Doug Griffen.

Mont Mitchell, brother of the bride, Drew Matthews, cousin of the groom, David Evans and Bo Ralph served as ushers.

The emn wore beige tuxedo coats trimmed in black and black pants. The groomsmen wore pastel shirts to match the bridesmaids, and the ushers wore white shirts.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a floor-length, light peach-colored suit. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Matthews chose for her son's wedding a long yellow A-line dress with long sleeves. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

A reception was held at Sikeston Country Club. Miss Patty McQuinn of Springfield, Ill., and Miss Susan Moore of Campoint, Ill., served guests.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the groom's home.

SeMo U. will honor those of distinction

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State University plans to recognize, during its centennial celebration, a small number of individuals who have distinguished themselves greatly and brought honor to the institution, according to Dr. David Strand, dean of the university.

The university will observe its 100th birthday during the 1973-74 academic year, which begins in August.

Dr. Strand, chairman of the centennial honors and awards committee, said today is the deadline for persons outside the university community to submit nominations.

Nominations received will be channeled to the appropriate academic unit of the university which will, in turn, review them and send its recommendations back to the honors and awards committee.

Dean Strand said the committee will choose a group of persons representative of the entire academic program at Southeast Missouri State, although there is not likely to be an honoree from each department.

"We're going to be highly selective," Dean Strand said, adding that as few as 10 individuals may be chosen.

Nominations should be made according to the following criteria:

The individual must have been a student at or employed by the school. (This would make persons who attend the university for a short time, graduates and faculty members eligible.)

The individual need not be alive today. (This would permit persons who made contributions during the early history of the institution to be nominated.)

Nominations must be accompanied by a biographical sketch noting the contributions of the individual to the school, his discipline, education and society, etc.

Ann Landers

Ann prints prayer to help smokers trying to break habit

Dear Ann Landers: I prayed this prayer and then read it on the phone to a friend whose children have been experimenting with cigaret smoking. She said, "Please sent it to Ann Landers. Share it with her and maybe she will share it with others!" So--- here it is:

"Help me, O Lord, to put these terrible things out of my life. Help to keep me busy, so busy that I don't have time to think about my need for them. And don't let me turn to eating as a substitute. I don't need THAT either. Guide me in the use of the time, energy and money I will have saved when I get these hideous coffin nails out of my life. Help me, O Lord, to make good decisions.

"I have tried to stop before, as You know, and have failed. Now I ask Your help, for I know I cannot do it alone. I am ashamed that I have caused others discomfort and concern. I hope I can make it up to them, somehow. Thanks, O Lord, for the strength that I need to conquer this awful habit. With Your help I can climb mountains."--- Katie In Indiana

Dear Katie: Here it is---- to be shared by millions. My thanks and best wishes. I hope your prayer is answered. Let me know in three months.

Dear Ann Landers: I work with the public and my appearance is an important part of my job. I've been told that for a woman in her early 60s I am very attractive.

Now I have a problem, which is mostly a matter of conscience. I had a serious gum infection a few months ago and the dentist told me I had to have all my teeth extracted. I did so on a holiday weekend and returned to work the following Tuesday. The dentures the dentist made are a work of art, the most natural I have ever seen. Two steady customers have commented on my pretty teeth. Both said, "I never noticed how lovely they are till now."

I just smiled and said, "Thank you," but I feel like a fraud--- especially since some of my colleagues know the truth. I'd like your advice.--- Smiling Through

Dear Smiling: Accept the compliments graciously. The teeth are yours. You paid for them.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been the secretary and good right arm to a wonderful boss for seven years. His wife is a social climber who is also a nagger and a screamer. She has a habit of telephoning him in the middle of meetings, insists that I put him on, and her voice can be heard all over the conference room. It is humiliating beyond belief.

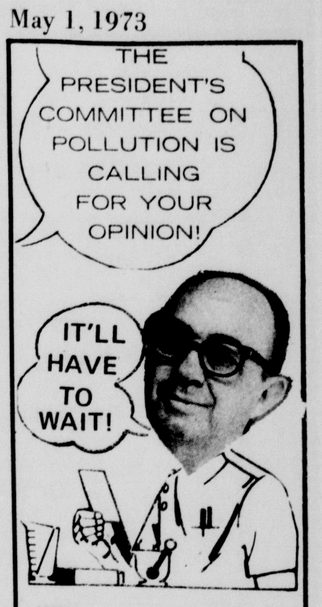

As you may have suspected, I have fallen in love with him, although I've fought against it for years. I have an idea that he is somewhat aware of my feelings although nothing has been verbalized. Eventually this marriage is going to collapse. He can't take the abuse much longer.

Last week I received a fine job offer across the street. Should I take it--- or wait around and pick up the pieces?--- Faith, Hope But No Charity

Dear F.H. But No C.: Take the job offer. When (or if) the boss's marriage collapses he can walk across the street. If he wants to.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking And Petting-- What Are The Limits?" Send your request to

Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclsoing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"The most important thing we'll do today is fill your prescription!"

Homers fly

LILBOURN — Coach Ted Mauk's Panthers literally bombed the visiting Gideon Bulldogs, slugging four homeruns to overpower their Tri-County foe 9-5.

Gideon wasn't without their heroics as pitcher Larry Hart blasted a Grant Dambach pitch in the top of the first inning with two mates aboard to take a 3-0 lead after one frame.

Lilbourn came roaring back in their half of the second inning to plate two runs and pull within one 3-2 going into the third.

Panther pitchers Dambach and Mitchell Allen, the eventual winner, held Gideon at bay to give Lilbourn the opportunity to catch the Bulldogs in the bottom of the third. Greg Weeks smacked his third homer of the season with two on to give Lilbourn a 5-3 lead.

Larry Hart was relieved by Tom Nowlin and Lilbourn went to work as Johnny Baker, Tom Maschmeyer, and Grant Dambach hit back- to - back homers to lead off the bottom of the fourth inning. The blast by Baker was his first of the year. Maschmeyer has four and Dambach hit his sixth.

With Lilbourn leading 8-3, Gideon scored single runs in the fifth and seventh. Lilbourn added their final run in the sixth. Lilbourn is 7-2 for the year.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Welterweight boxer Isaac Quintas, who underwent brain surgery after collapsing in the Olympic Auditorium ring on Thursday, has been removed from the critical list and is "awake, alert and doing quite well," a County-USC Medical Center spokesman said.

Quintas, 25, from Mexico, collapsed after losing a decision to Renato Garcia of Chile. Doctors performed a three hour operation to remove pressure from a blood clot.

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — It wasn't much of a baseball season for the Yellow Jackets of LeTourneau College. The team won five games and lost 12.

But the Yellow Jackets surpassed a lot of teams in one particular department. They had 18 games rained out.

Panther star

Grant Dambach heads for home after slamming a home run against the Gideon Bulldogs Monday afternoon, it was the fourth of the game for the Panthers.

Birk stops Charleston

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Righthander Mike Birk lacked two batters pitching a perfect no- hitter as an error allowed one to reach base and a hit batsman allowed another, to spoil the perfect portion of the game but Birk held on to the no- hitter beating the Charleston Bluejays in the District baseball tournament here Monday 4-0.

Birk and Steve Ritchey of the Bluejays hooked up in a classic pitching duel for four innings but Ritchey gave a little in the top of the fifth and let the Tigers cross the plate with what eventually turned out to be the winning run but Cape Central added three insurance runs in the top of the sixth to advance to the second round of the district tournament.

Ritchey allowed only five singles in the game and struckout five in taking the loss. Birk fanned 10 Bluejays.

BOSTON (AP) — Gary Darling, a veteran scout in Ontario, is the new director of scouting for the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League.

Darling was promoted by the Bruins Monday to replace George "Red" Sullivan, who left the club to go with Milt Schmidt to the new Washington franchise. Schmidt left the Bruins to become general manager of the Washington team, which will begin play next year.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Football at Xavier University appeared safe today after the faculty-student senate voted down its own committee report recommending its abolition.

In a dramatic, 22-13 vote, the senate disavowed the ad hoc committee report. The vote had been delayed since April 14 when Xavier President Robert Mulligan S.J., chairman, cut off debate on the issue.

The vote was held Monday.

Stag BEER®

invites you to go to bat for recycling

Earn this Little League aluminum baseball bat by collecting aluminum cans!

This $9.95 value is yours when you bring 50 pounds of aluminum cans to a Stag recycling center.

Here's an even better reward for pitching in to recycling. Bring 50 pounds of aluminum cans—Stag's or anyone else's—to your Stag recycling center.

Ordinarily Stag pays you 10¢ a pound (about one half-cent a can) for the aluminum. Now you'll earn twice that in the form of an official aluminum baseball bat. (Of course, you can have the cash at 10¢ a pound, if you prefer.)

It's a great team project. Aluminum bats won't chip, splinter or break, so one bat serves an entire team.

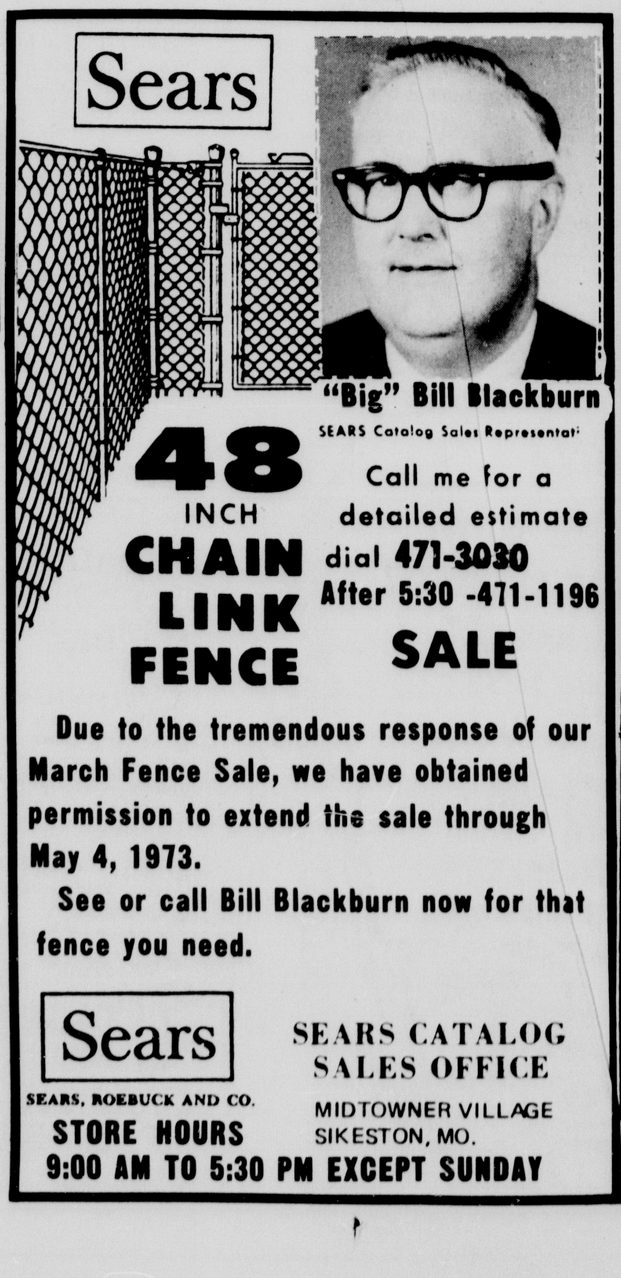

Help clean up your neighborhood and get a jump on your summer sports fun. Go to bat for recycling. Offer for limited time only.

Return aluminum cans to your Stag Beer recycling center:

DELTA-- Coach Dale Harrison's Bobcats breezed past Marquand 11- 1 in the District baseball tournament played here Monday afternoon.

Delta put two big innings, scoring four in the bottom of the second and seven in the fifth to put the game away and advance to second round action.

Paul Slinkard handled the pitching chores for the Bobcats and limited Marquand to only three hits in the game in picking up the win. Joe Meyers was the loser.

First baseman Mike Kelly was the leading hitter for Delta blasting out two triples and knocking in four runs. Troy Martin had two runs batted in with a double. Delta banged out nine hits in the game.

Poplar Bluff eliminated

POPLAR BLUFF — Doniphan fell to Fredericktown in first round action of baseball district play Monday. The Blackcats managed to squeeze past the 1-0.

John Burnam not on base and made his way to second on a steal. An error advanced him to third where John National hit a single to bring him in to win the game.

Larry cruse had the shutout for Blackcats while Joyner took the loss.

SHS athletes busy

Tennis and baseball at SHS move into subdistrict action this week as the netters go to Kennett Wednesday and Coach N.P. McDaniel's baseballers visit Capaha Park in Cape Girardeau Thursday to face the Jackson Indians. The golfers and tracksters each have one meet slated for this week as a "tuning up" for their respective district competition next week.

BASEBALL

Sikeston's diamond crew, unseeded in the SEMO district baseball classic, will face the third- seeded Jackson Indians in a four o'clock battle at Capaha in Cape Girardeau on Thursday. The Bulldogs, 3-2 so far this season, are hopeful of an upset which could give them a rematch with the second-seeded Poplar Bluff Mules this Monday at V.F.W. stadium. Cape Central has been seeded first in the tournament with one lone loss totheir account; that loss coming at the hands of the Bulldogs last Friday afternoon, 5-3.

SHS was slated to host Meridian High School of Mounds, Illinois in a four o'clock contest today, but for the fourteenth time this spring rain has been the forecast for the day of the game.

TENNIS

Coach John Heacox's netmen finished out the 1973 season last week with an 8-2-1 mark and are odds-on favorites to repeat as subdistrict and district champs this year.

Competing in singles in the subdistrict at Kennett are Matt Matthews and Jeff Robey. Matthews captured a third place finish in the competition in 1972 as a sophomore and is a serious contender again this year.

The number one and three doubles teams from district play last year return to the courts for Sikeston tomorrow afternoon. David Hahs and Brad Buchanan are defending district doubles champs and will be fighting to retain that status. Bill Colwick and Bill Lewis hope to improve on their third place seat from last year, which would qualify them for the state tournament in Columbia May 18 and 19.

GOLF

The golfers, winless in seven meets this season, will host the Perryville Pirate duffers Thursday afternoon in hopes of "hitting the groove" for district action this Monday at Westwood Hills Country Club in Poplar Bluff. As of late, Coach Robert Buchanan's bogeymen have been turning in good scores, only to be bettered by hot- shooting opponents.

TRACK

Coach Jim Graham's thinclads were on the road this afternoon as they competed in the Kennett invitational at four o'clock. The meet this afternoon will be the last opportunity for many of the tracksters to turn in qualifying times for the district meet at Northwest High School in House Springs May 11.

Hornets, Cards win

CHAFFEE--- In the District baseball tournament here Monday afternoon the Advance Hornets and Woodland Cardinals had an easy time of winning as Advance romped over Meadow Heights 15- 2 and Woodland downed Oak Ridge 10- 0.

Advance toyed with Meadow Heights until the bottom of the fourth inning when the Hornets showed the Panthers how to hit the ball and scored 14 runs to subdue their foe.

John Crowe pitched two and two- thirds innings to pickup the win, allowing two hits. Dennis Dunivan finished up the game. Fred Garland took the loss. Emerson and Clayton hit doubles for the Hornets. Advance takes on Notre Dame Wednesday afternoon in second round action.

Woodland pushed across a run in the bottom of the first inning and added five more in the third to breeze past the Jays.

Mark Jordan won the game and Joe Morrison took the loss. McCormick and Robbins hit doubles for the Cardinals.

Football cards schedule set

ST. LOUIS, Mo.-- Five home games in the first eight weeks, including the opening two against playoff teams Washington and Oakland, highlight the Football Cardinals schedule for 1973, it was announced Monday. The season kicks off September 16 with the Big Red at Philadelphia.

The home- opener against the Redskins, defending NFC and Eastern Division champions, is set a week later on September 23. Following a road trip to Dallas, the Big Red will battle the Raiders here on October 7-- the first meeting ever between the two teams.

The three- week salvo of Washington, Dallas and Oakland will serve as a rugged NFL welcome for new Cardinal coach Don Coryell.

Besides the home dates with the Redskins and Raiders, the Big Red will entertain Eastern Division rivals Dallas, New York Giants and Philadelphia, and nondivision opponents Detroit and Denver. All home games will be on Sundays, with kickoff at 1:05 p.m., St. Louis time.

On the road, the Cardinals will visit each of their four division members and also make trips to Green Bay, Atlanta and Cincinnati-- marking their first regular season game ever against the Bengals. Coupled with the Oakland and Denver home games, the Big Red will have met every NFL team at least once in regular- season competition following the 1973 season.

The five home games during the first eight weeks is a reversal from last year when the Cardinals were at home only three times in the first nine weeks. This year, the Big Red has three straight road dates during November-- the first time that has happened since the team opened the 1964 season with five straight road appearances.

The Cardinals will meet the Redskins and Eagles twice each during the season's first six weeks, entertaining Philadelphia on October 14 and visiting Washington a week later. Then the Big Red comes home for two straight games--- against the Giants on October 28 and Denver on November 4.

After that, St. Louis begins its three- game road trip, visiting Green Bay on November 11, the Giants a week later and Cincinnati on November 25. The Cardinals return to Busch Stadium on December 2 to face Detroit, marking the Lions' first St. Louis appearance since 1967.

The final road game of the year comes on December 9 at Atlanta, and the Cardinals will close out the regular season a week later at home against the Cowboys.

The Big Red's two home pre- season games were previously announced--- against the New York Jets in the Cardinal Glennon Hospital benefit game on August 25 and the Kansas City Chiefs on September 7.

The 1973 Cardinal schedule (all starting times adjusted to St. Louis time):

Sept. 16-- at Philadelphia, noon
Sept. 23-- Washington, 1:05 p.m.

USDA orders Dexter firm to stop payment violations

WASHINGTON — Dexter Packg Company, Inc. of Dexter, Mo., has been ordered to stop violating payment requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) said today.

The firm purchases livestock, poultry and meat in Southeast Missouri and western Tennessee.

The firm consented to issuance of the order. It waived oral hearing, and neither admitted nor denied the charges contained in an administrative complaint filed by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration.

USDA Judicial Officer Donald A. Campbell ordered the firm to cease and desist from:

-- Issuing insufficient funds checks or drafts in payment for livestock, poultry and meat; and

-- Failing to pay, when due, the full purchase price of livestock, poultry and meat.

The cease and desist order -- like a permanent injunction -- was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act.

Meat packers are required -- under the P&S Act -- to pay promptly for livestock, poultry, and meat.

The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law. It promotes and maintains fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat. The act is administered on a nondiscriminatory basis.

The record in this case is open to the public. Copies of this order, P&S Docket 4767, may be obtained from the Information Officer, Packers and Stockyards Administration, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Lamkin gets high Rotary award

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Robert E. L. Lamkin, who in 1919 helped to establish the Cape Girardeau Rotary Club, received one of the international service organization's highest awards in ceremonies Saturday forenoon at the annual conference of the 40 clubs in the southeast Missouri Rotary District.

His fellow club members took the occasion of a program on the Rotary Foundation — an educational body with a variety of educational programs to further international understanding — to make him a Paul Harris Fellow.

Paul Harris was the founder of Rotary in Chicago in 1905, and the award is named for him. It is given any Rotarian who gives $1,000 or in whose honor that sum is given to the foundation. The Cape Girardeau Rotary Club recently made a $1,000 contribution to the foundation and named Lamkin its choice as a fellow.

The presentation was made by S. David Patterson, president of the Cape Girardeau Club, the 448th to be admited to Rotary International, now one of 15,500 in 149 countris. Patterson noted Lamkin was a charter member of the club here with 54 years service to it. He was president in 1941-42.

With the award went a plaque, a lapel pin and a medal designating Lamkin as a Paul Harris Fellow. He is the second in District 609, to receive the award. The club at Farmington earlier had designated Lawrence Burns, a past district governor, for the honor.

Present for the ceremony were Lamkin's two sons and daughter- in- law, Mr. and Mrs. Re. E. L. Lamkin Jr., and John T. Lmakin and Lamkin's granddaughter, Mrs. Richard D. Kinder.

Earlier in the foundation program, Mr. and Mrs. Ain Utt of Melbourn, Australia, were interviewed by John L.Blue, district Rotary Foundation chairman, on their experiences under a foundation grant at the University of Missouri- Rolla. Utt will receive his degree in chemical engineering next month. He is at Rolla under a foundation technical grant, one of several programs.

More than 400 Rotarians and their wives crowded into the university's memorial Hall ballroom for the closing banquet Saturday night. The guest speaker, Dr. Tom Haggai, said the United States has many problems that must be tackled, but he stressed they will not be solved through constant criticism of the country.

"The United States may be the most affluent country in the world, but it is also the most depressed in spirit," Dr. Haggai declared. He said the Indochina war and economic ills can take some of the blame.

"There is more than these reasons behind it, however," he said. Americans, he pointed out, "need high motivation and confidence in the midst of our troubles. In everything we should give thanks to God."

Dr. Haggai, an author, radio commentator, public speaker and former minister from High Point, N. C., received loud applause as he hailed former prisoners of war in North Vietnam who expressed thanks to God upon setting foot on American soil. He received a standing ovation when he criticized anti- war actress Jane Fonda for her trips to North Vietnam.

"If Miss Fonda likes the Hanoi Hilton (a POW camp) so well, she should live there," Dr. Haggai said.

"I wasn't surprised when the POWs came home and said 'God bless America,' " he continued. "The POWs learned how to be thankful."

He urged Americans to give thanks for the blessings they have received. "God has blessed this country," he said. "America has horrendous faults, and one of the greatest is a lack of optimism. Perhaps the trouble is that we have had too much.

"We must not overlook the faults," Dr. Haggai said. "But we must be committed to help. We cannot just throw our country away like a broken toy."

High wire artist demonstrates Torino's incredibly smooth ride.

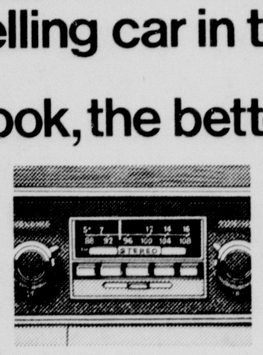

Just released: Gran Torino 2-Door Hardtop with new Luxury Decor Package and WSW tires.

It took a lot more than a smooth ride to make Ford Torino the best selling car in the mid-size field.

The closer you look, the better we look.

Optional AM/FM stereo radio with front and rear dual speakers.

Torino's instrument panel. All gauges are easy to read, controls within easy reach of driver.

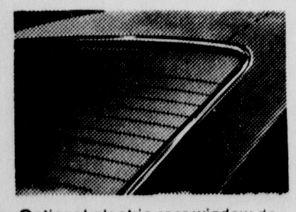

Front disc brakes are standard on Torino. Power front disc brakes optional.

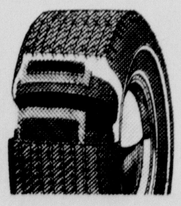

Behind Torino's smooth ride are better ideas in engineering. Like angle mounted shock absorbers for increased directional stability. Rubber body/frame mounts that help isolate the passenger compartment from road shocks. And a coil spring rubber-insulated front suspension that helps minimize noise and road vibration.

Inside you'll find expansive room up front. Plus the kind of luxury you'd expect from high priced automobiles.

So take a good, close look at Ford Torino for '73. Discover why it's become the best selling car in the mid-size field.

Optional electric rear window defroster. (Torino's major competitor doesn't offer it.)

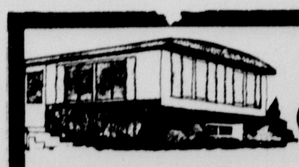

Torino offers optional steel-belted radial ply tires on all models.

A longer wheelbase and wider front and rear track than major competitor, for a smooth, stable ride.

What's the law?

The case of the terrible bridge player

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Karen loved the game of bridge with even more passion than Anthony loved Cleopatra. Unfortunately, her neighbor's parrot Bruno shared her passion. Whenever Karen would sit down with her foursome, Bruno couldn't resist the temptation to kibitz from across a narrow alleyway that separated their two apartments.

The payoff came, however, when Karen trumped her partner's ace one afternoon, which in the game of bridge was a crime worse than murder. And blaming her error on the kibitzing parrot, Karen served notice on her landlord that she was going to vacate her apartment and she did so.

Without ado, Karen's landlord started an action against his erstwhile tenant to collect all rent due under the unexpired term of her lease.

"I had a right to move," insisted Karen in court. "Whenever I played bridge, I'd make mistakes because of comments made by the parrot next door. And when you got right down to it, he wasn't any better a player than I was."

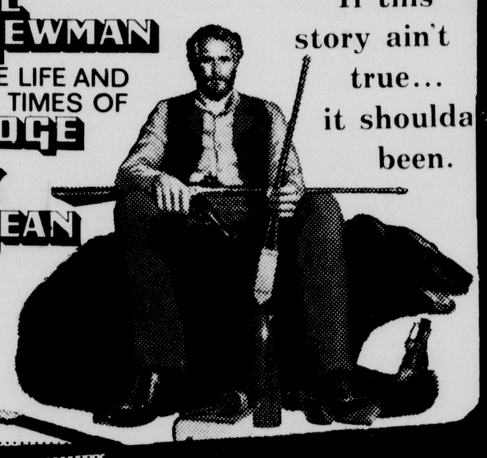

"It's not my fault Bruno was such a terrible bridge player," retorted the insensitive landlord. "All I know is that Karen ran out before her lease did and I've got to be paid."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Karen pay for trying to elude the kabitzing parrot?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that Karen had no right to break her lease because a parrot was obviously ignorant of bridge etiquette that permits no one to talk above a whisper. At any rate, concluded the judge, a landlord is not responsible to a tenant for the conduct of a third party even if the third party happens to be a parrot.

Vandals hit

Vandals broke into the junior high school sometime over the weekend, causing about $50 worth of damage in the girls' dressing room, according to police.

Police said a hammer was apparently used to break the lock off a cabinet and bowling balls were taken out and scattered around. Cigarette butts were also found in the Home Economics room.

How the vandals entered the building is unknown.

The aim, Ziegler said, was "to physically protect the files to make sure that access and removal of any files were supervised in accordance with very strict procedure."

The Watergate investigation has produced allegations that some vital documents were removed from the White House and destroyed.

Asked why the White House police had not been given this security duty, Ziegler said he was not sure. But, he said, this "was an initial step" ordered by the three Watergate probe chiefs.

Cline to open office May 4

Rep. C. F. Cline, D-Sikeston, will open his district office May 4 in room 213 of the Sikeston Activity Center. While the legislature is in session, the office will be open on Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

Rep. Cline had promised during his campaign last year that he would have a district office in both Scott and Stoddard counties. A district office in the courthouse at Bloomfield has already been opened.

Official Missouri road maps, brochures on state parks and other material will be available in the office.

The Sikeston Activity Center is located at 201 South Kingshighway in the former First Baptist Church building, directly across from the Missouri Employment Security office.

helps draft laws, and the Fiscal Affairs Committee, which aids lawmakers in arriving at costs for state government spending.

The Senate tentatively approved a bill to set up a Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Services Division in the Department of Social Services. It would replace the State Board of Training Schools and administer programs and facilities under a juvenile justice system.

It was approved by a 14-13 vote despite criticisms by some senators that it would be a "bureaucratic dog" and "stack incompetents on top of incompetents."

An amendment was added to delete possible federal funds for operation. Sen. John Schneider, D-St. Louis, said that for $317,595 the state could begin the program with a central office and consultants to local communities.

In committee action Monday night, Rep. Bob Griffin, D-Cameron, told the Senate Criminal Justice Committee that persons granted immunity from prosecution on the state level would probably not be prosecuted later by federal officials.

Rivers continue to rise

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Added rainfall in Illinois and Iowa may force already swollen rivers to rise again, the river district office of the National Weather Service predicted Monday night.

Two to three inches of rain had fallen in northern portions of Iowa and Illinois Monday night and flash-flood warnings were issued in Illinois, a weather service forecaster said.

In a 45-minute period, three inches of rain fell at West Jersey, Ill., near Peoria, he said.

"Already the Kansas City forecast center is thinking in terms of some type of new crest on the Mississippi, possibly around 40 feet," the spokesman said.

Officials of the Corps of Engineers were warning families already forced from their homes during the worst flooding in history, not to return too soon, emphasizing that the rivers were still well over flood stage.

"It's not a time to relax," one corps official said.

Asked about renewed crests Monday night, a corps official said, "A lot of places that we've reinforced should be okay. If another 40 feet hits us, we will be able to withstand it without too much difficulty," he added.

The Mississippi River at St. Louis, where flood stage is 30 feet, was marked at 42.8 feet Monday after a record 43.3 crest Saturday.

Further south at Cape Girardeau, Mo., the river was at 45.4 feet Monday, but was not expected to crest until today. Flood stage at Cape Girardeau is 32 feet and the city is protected by a 52-foot flood wall.

At Chester, Ill., the river set a record crest of 43.3 feet Monday, exceeding by 3.3 feet the record set April 6.

The Missouri River was continuing to recede at St. Charles, after cresting at 36.4 feet last week. The river fell to 33.1 feet Monday and was expected to drop to 26.8 feet by Thursday.

Flood stage at St. Charles is 25 feet.

Nixon moves to protect files

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents were posted outside key White House offices today as President Nixon moved to protect files which might be needed in the expanding Watergate investigation.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler maintained that this was "a safeguarding procedure" and was "not to cast aspersions on any individual."

He said the FBI agents were posted wherever White House files were, specifically at the offices of Nixon's former top aides, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman and counsel John W. Dean III.

Shortly before disclosure that FBI agents had been given the job of insuring security of the files, Haldeman and Ehrlichman were seen leaving the White House in the back seat of a chauffeur-driven limousine with piles of documents in their laps. Their destination was not disclosed, but both said earlier they were arranging meetings with federal and Senate investigators.

The new procedure, Ziegler said, was put into effect as the result of a meeting Monday afternoon with Nixon's new Watergate probe supervisors, presidential special consultant Leonard Garment, who took over counsel Dean's duties, Defense

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A $1 million emergency appropriations bill to pay the National Guard expenses on flood duty was passed by the Missouri House Monday and now goes to the Senate.

The measure originally appropriated $350,000, but was raised lastweek at Gov. Christopher S. Bond's request to $1 million. Bond said costs for guardsmen had been increased as more than 2,000 were on active duty throughout the state.

He said part of the $1 million would be used to provide "a cushion" for possible disasters that might occur later in the fiscal year.

The House also tentatively approved a $171.5 million appropriations measure to fund state higher education, and a $4.5 million bill to pay the expenses of the general assembly for the 1973-74 fiscal year which ends June 30.

An amendment that would have cut the funds for the University of Missouri from $107 million to $105 million was defeated.

Added to the university's appropriations was a $50,000 sum to be used for a program to aid blacks and other children from inter- city areas adjust to university life.

Funding for the general assembly includes increased staff for the Legislative Research Committee, which

At planning meeting

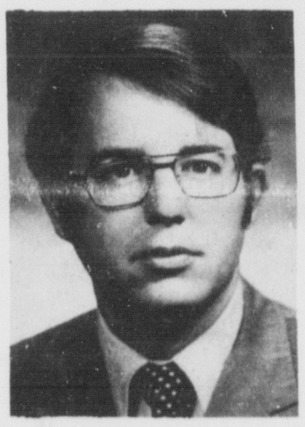

Sikes to speak

Alfred Sikes of Jefferson City, state director of the Department of Community Affairs, will speak at a Bootheel Regional Planning Commission meeting on May 10, according to Pat Lea of Sikeston, chairman of the planning commission.

The meeting at Ramada Inn at 7 p.m. is being held to give more community leaders an opportunity to meet and visit with Sikes, especially since the Department of Community Affairs is so important in the handling of federal and state programs, Lea said.

Sikes, 33, was appointed by Gov. Christopher S. Bond to head the Department of Community Affairs in January. He is originally from Sikeston and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Sikes, 507 N. Kingshighway.

Sikes received his bachelor of arts degree in 1961 from Westminister College in Fulton and received his law degree in 1964 from the University of Missouri Law School in Columbia.

Alfred C. Sikes

He has been active in civic affairs since graduation, having been statee president of Missouri Jaycees from 1969 to 1970, vice president of the National Jaycees from 1970 to 1971 and Jaycee International legal counsel from 1971 to 1972. In 1969, Sikes received the Clayton Frost Memorial Award given each year to the five outstanding state Jaycee presidents in the nation.

He is also a member of the Missouri Bar Association and the Cole County Bar Association.

Sikes was previously employed in private practice with the law firm of Allen, Woolsey and Fisher of Springfield for five years. He also served as assistant attorney general under Atty. Gen. John Danforth for three years.

In addition, he served as Danforth's campaign manager in his senatorial race in 1970 and acted in the same capacity for Christopher S. Bond in his gubernatorial race last year.

He also was a member of the Missouri Organized Crime Task Force in 1970 and 1971 and following Bond's election victory in November, Sikes was executive director of Missouri Transition Government, Inc.

Sikes and his wife, the former Martha Pagenkopf, have three children, Deborah, 9, Christine, 7, and Marcia, 3.

2 Sikeston youths jailed in Charleston

CHARLESTON— Two Sikeston youths are in Mississippi County jail charged with burglary and stealing, following their arrest Monday afternoon by city patrolman Kirk Durbin.

Jimmy Darrell Hicks, 18, and a 15- year- old boy are accused of entering the Harry Keener home at 310 E. Commercial St. Saturday through an unlocked patio door and stealing approximately $60 from a bedroom dresser.

Reportedly, the two returned to the Keener home Monday afternoon and stole a purse containing $6 from an automobile parked under the carport. Keener was notified by a neighbor who saw the two in the carport and police were called.

Patrolman Durbin arrested them a short time later at the corner of Fourth and Commercial streets from the description given.

The juvenile has been turned over to juvenile officer Gordon Galemore.

Murder suspects moved to Benton

BENTON— Two men charged with a series of robbery- murders along Interstate 55 have been transferred from Cape Girardeau County Jail to the Scott County jail in Benton, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Transferred were Leon Orr, 19, of St. Louis and Charles Coleman, 22, of Tarpon Springs, Fla. They had been moved previously from St. Genevieve to Jackson as a safety precaution.

Dennis said the men were moved to Benton for "safe-keeping."

Three other men have also been charged in the murder spree, including Howard Coleman of Blytheville, Ark., believed to be the brother of Charles Coleman, Eddie Orr, 21, of St. Louis, the brother of Leon Orr, and Danny Sims of Blytheville.

The killings began on March 31 when members of the group allegedly held up a truck stop in Osceola, Ark., and killed the wife of the owner. Another killing occurred during a robbery April 5 at a service station near Holland in Pemiscot County and, finally, the April 13 robbery and murder of an attendant and customer at a service station in St. Genevieve. The Orr brothers and Charles Coleman were captured shortly afterward. The other two men later turned themselves over to authorities.

Sheriff Dennis also said Emmanuel Keesee, 43, of Illmo has been extradited to Pennsylvania to face charges of robbery and robbery by assault. Keesee escaped from the Scott County jail April 11 and was recaptured April 16 near Kansas City.

600 families seek aid

CHARLESTON — About 600 families have sought help from the Disaster Assistance Center since the center opened Wednesday in the Armory at 711 South Main St.

Anyone directly affected by the flood disaster can get help at the center. The office is for people of Mississippi, Scott, Stoddard, New Madrid, Butler, Cape Girardeau, Bollinger, Wayne and Reynolds counties who need assistance due to the flood.

Bob Hite, representing the Office of Emergency Preparedness in St. Louis, is director of the center. The office is open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and will remain open as long as the need is present.

The center includes representatives from welfare, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Small Business Administration, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Missouri Division of Employment Security and Internal Revenue Service.

Pamphlets telling what is offered at the center are being distributed to rural areas.

Students challenged to greatness

"You can develop some measure of greatness if you will set the right goals, sustain and concentrate your efforts and if the goals have in them a sense of mission," Tudor Westover, president of Three Rivers Junior College in Poplar Bluff, told about 275 students and their families at an honors reception Monday evening at the Sikeston High School.

The reception was held to honor the upper 10 per cent of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes, which includes 122 students. Each student was presented a certificate.

Westover centered his talk to the group around striving for greatness, saying this is the kind of group that has the real potential to relieve suffering and improve the health of the community and make the world a better and happier place in which to live.

He discussed three ingredients which help a person achieve some measure of greatness.

The first ingredient is the necessity to set goals. He urged students in the lower grades to set academic excellence goals and the seniors to think in terms of college education. "A college education is not absolutely essential, but will be helpful," Westover said.

"You are the young people who have shown the potential to permit you to become whatever you want to become," Westover told the group, "What you deeply believe you can do, you can do."

It takes more than mental determination though, he added, it also takes sustained concentration, which is the second ingredient. "We must make a continuous effort to make our expectations come true," Westover said.

The third ingredient is a sense of mission. He explained this as a calling to rise above your own individual good in the cause of a greater good for humanity.

In referring to Nixon's address on radio and television Monday night, he said that what is on the air tonight marks a sad point in history. He added that government is at its lowest point in years.

"This country -- if not perfect -- is by far the best," Westover said, "Maybe your mission will be to turn it (this country) around and make it the great country it can be," he added.

The area of culture is also one where a sense of mission could accomplish much, he said, as is the area of morality.

He concluded by saying that the world is hungry for new leaders.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the school orchestra, under the direction of Richard Powell. David Blanton was master of ceremonies and Phillip Barkett and Charles Matthews presented the certificates to the students.

LIBBERS, WHAT HAVE YOU DONE!

Aha! Women's liberation is one of the biggest factors contributing to the high cost of meat, especially the better cuts.

Says who? Says D. Gale Johnson, a University of Chicago agricultural economist, leading authority on farm prices and former president of the American Farm Economic Association.

How does he reach this conclusion?

Well, says Johnson, as more women enter the labor force, those who must also cook for their families are constantly seeking ways to save time. Since the higher priced cuts of beef take the least amount of time to prepare, there has been an enormous increase in demand for sirloin, T-bone and porterhouse steaks.

Curiously, Johnson does not mention the fact that working wives also add to a family's income and thus in a quite literal sense are helping bring home more of the bacon.

Incidentally, those women who work all day in offices, shops or factories and then have to cook for the family will hardly call that "liberation."

WASHINGTON, D. C.,
REVISITED

Thomas Jefferson was America's first secretary - of - state, its third president, and the author of the Declaration of Independence.

He designed the University of Virginia, and translated the New Testament from the original Greek to English. He wanted more to be a farmer than a President.

Jefferson knew Washington, D. C. well. But what would he think if he could revisit it today? He would see legislation for a guaranteed annual income, he would hear of the United Nations, with Soviet Russia and Red China on its board of directors, and he would encounter a price- wage freeze enacted by the government, as the government admitted it couldn't handle the economy.

Jefferson might also see hoodlums looting on the very streets of our nation's capital. He would read of admitted murderers being released to stalk other possibile victims, all because of some legal technicality. And he would surely see where creeping socialism had reached a runaway stage.

Jefferson might see a farm advertised, but he would be amaxed that the owner must sell to him if he had the money. And he'd be alarmed when he learned that the government would tell him how to run it.

If he went to a movie on Saturday night, he would find many X-rated shows listed, and even more "Restricted" movies. If he tried hard enough, he could find a movie such as "The Fountainhead" or "The Sound of Music." Maybe Thomas Jefferson would begin again a Declaration of Independence.

NEW YORK (AP) — Neither of our kids turned out to be a lawyer — which is surprising, considering the fact that they spent their childhood drawing up formidable-sounding legal documents.

When they were feeling friendly they would prepare elaborate wills, leaving one another all their carefully hoarded possessions, ranging from a butterfly impaled in a cigar box to a half-eaten lollipop.

But following an argument they would withdraw the largesse with nastily worded codicils.

Not all their legal papers dealt with the eventual disposition of personal property. Some were geared to the here and now.

We had only one television set and each child was entitled to pick half the programs for their allotted joint viewing time, so a trade-off in this department was common. The party of the first part would guarantee certain advantages — either material or spiritual — to the party of the second part in exchange for TV privileges.

Since Gay was too young to cross the street alone she was dependent on her older brother to take her to the ten-cent store. He generally offered this service as an inducement, rather than resorting to money or durable goods for barter.

The family archives hold this example of one of the formal agreements executed between 6-year-old Gay and 11-year-old Brenn:

"Gay agrees to: (a) Let Brenn see his baseball game from 8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 23.

Brenn agrees to: (a) Let Gay see any program up to 8:30 p.m., same date; (b) Take Gay to the stores Sat., Aug. 24; (c) play 'Rock breaks scissors' twice with Gay; (d) Let Gay read his comic books."

Merchandise ownership was also transferred via unbreakable contracts such as this, duly signed and sealed at ages 8 and 13:

"Trade agreement enacted this 14th day of May:

Brenn, has given to Gay one pennant, the description of which follows.

Gay has given to Brenn two pennants. Descriptions follow.

1. A small blue pennant with the lettering MOHAWK TRAIL and under that MASS. on it and a picture of an Indian at the left. Length, about nine inches.

I still think the legal profession lost a couple of likely prospects.

CONSUMER SUITS

A major problem faced by many low-income consumers stems from their lack of understanding of certain legal documents and procedures, according to Richard A. Givens, Director of the New York Regional Office of the Federal Trade Commission.

The Consumer Information Center of Avon Products, Inc., responding to this need, prepared a free brochure, "If you Get Sued ... Don't Lose by Default." The brochure identifies a summons, tells how it may be served, explaines the legal procedures involved, and advises the consumer how he may best protect his interests and avoid losing the suit by default.

Written in both English and Spanish, the booklet may be obtained in either language by writing to Avon Consumer Information Center, 9 West 57th Street, New York, N. Y. 10019.

BALANCING RISKS

Everyone has assumed that the perfect method of birth control would come along to ease the problems of population growth. However, this optimistic assumption is pretty well shattered by the remarks of Dr. Carl Djerassi, professor of chemistry at Stanford University.

Dr. Djerassi says industry-sponsored research on new contraceptives is leveling off and may even decline soon because of the great cost and doubtful prospects of financial return. These are the same obstacles that have slowed the discovery and development of new medicines by prescription drug firms. Dr. Djerassi says if the present climate and requirements had prevailed in 1955, birth control chemicals now in use would still be laboratory curiosities. And, he adds that, according to a recent survey, the drug industry has probably spent more than $100 million in the last five years in contraceptive research and development. It is unrealistic to expect private investment on this scale to continue when prospects for financial return become "more and more distant and problematical."

All of life is a balancing of risks. When we walk across the street, we do so with full knowledge that we are risking being run down by a car, but we cross the street, nevertheless, because of a desirable or necessary objective that lies on the other side. And, so it is with everything -- including drugs. Present laws, aimed at a standard of absolute safety where healing drugs are concerned, could well mean that the drug industry will remain glued to the same street corner for all time. In such a case, million of people would be denied the benefits of new discoveries -- in contraceptives and other drugs that would have made the slight risk of crossing the street well worthwhile.

API RECOMMEDS
STEPPED-UP DRILLING

The American Petroleum Institute has warned that unless action is taken soon to reverse a declining trend in oil and gas exploration, "the domestic energy situation will continue to deteriorate."

In a statement filed with the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, the Institute reported that "there has been a sharp decline in all categories of drilling over the past 15 years." For example, the API noted that the number of new field wildcat wells drilled declined 44 per cent between 1957 and 1971.

To reverse this declining trend, the API recommended:

1. The creation of a stable investment climate. Threats of adverse changes in tax, import and regulatory policies expose venture capital to increased risks and should be avoided.

2. Tax incentives to stimulate exploration and development of new domestic reserves.

3. The continued availability of public lands for mineral development.

4. The termination of well-head natural gas price regulation as rapidly as possible, so that natural gas can compete freely in the marketplace.

5. The establishment of specific environmental goals through the governmental process, with private industry responsible for the methods, means and techniques used to achieve the goals given public endorsement.

6. The retention of a flexible system of quantitiative restrictions on oil imports.

7. The implementation of government policies which will encourage the private sector to engage in research and development of symthetic fuels, including oil from oil shale.

DEFINING TERMS

The Monongahela News, published by the Monongahela Power Company of Fairmont, West Virginia, has defined the terms "blackout" and "brownout" as understood by an electric company. It says, "A blackout is properly defined as a massive power interruption affecting a large area and a large number of customers. A blackout is usually caused by a major failure of generating equipment or transmission facilities. The most massive interruption in this country was the cascading power failure in the Northeast in 1965 which began with improperly relay action in Canada. The chances are extremely remote that there will ever be a repetition of the events which resulted in this blackout.

"Brownout is a confusing term because, as often used by the press, it implies a noticeable sustained general decline in the ... light level, which would result only from a major reduction in voltage. Such a reduction, which would have to be 10 per cent or more, would not be permitted to occur... rather, load would be shed on a selected basis. A brownout would occur during a period when an electric utility asks customers, particularly large industrial and commercial customers, to curtail their use of power ... The term brownout, therefore, reflects a lesser use of power in a number of different applications ...

Much was learned from the massive Northeast power failure of 1965. The electric industry has created entirely new systems of power pooling. Sophisticated equipment and new operating procedures have been put into use. The "brownout" is one of the procedures now used to assure that "blackouts" don't happen.

Atlantic Richfield Company will deposit $225,000 in minority - owned or managed commercial or savings banks in 10 cities from coast- to - coast, bringing the total of such deposits in the past year to nearly $1,000,000, Robert O. Anderson, chairman, has announced.

The latest deposits, the announcement said, range from $20,000 to $25,000 each in minority- owned or managed institutions in these cities: Dayton, O.; Detroit, Mich.; Milwaukee, Wisc.; Nashville, Tenn.; Norfolk, Va.; Richmond, Va.; Santa Anna, Calif.; Taos, N. M.; Union City, N. J.; Washington, D. C.

As previously announced, the company deposited $670,000 in 21 minority-owned or managed banks in 13 cities last year. The certificates of deposit or time deposits, Anderson said, help provide funding for minority businesses in the areas where the institutions are located.

"We feel it is important that major companies help finance minority self- reliance and economic advancement through some deposits in banks serving minority groups," Anderson said.

DISASTER PROOF

Safety precautions at nuclear power plants are reaching a no risk level that really strains the imagination to comprehend. Nuclear plants are expected to survive nearly every calamitous contingency except the disintegration of the planet. A United Press International dispatch concerning a proposed nuclear plant on the Columbia river in the Pacific Northwest describes some of the fantastic considerations that have been included in a safety evaluation report of the project by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

For example, the plant will be able to withstand earthquates of an intensity that would leave metropolitan areas of the region in a shambles. The plant site is located at a height to offer protection against even the most disastrous floods. The UPI dispatch mentions that even if Grand Coulee Dam were to burst, the torrent of water could not reach the proposed new nuclear plant. If Mount St. Helens -- 35 miles away -- erupted, the volcanic lava flows and ash falls would not affect operation of the plant. Provisions have even been made for protecting the water intake structure on the river from possible ramming by ships. All over the country, similar protective measures are taking place.

The nuclear plant of a large power company on the eastern seaboard became the subject of discussion about wheather proper precautions had been taken against crashes of missiles and airplanes. The Atomic Energy Commission indicated that the chance of damage from this direction is less than one in 10 million. There is little question but what nuclear power plants will prove to be one of the safest of all human undertakings.

GOVERNMENT MAY BAN VITAMINS

Millions of our people use vitamins as dietary supplements. Medical authorities may disagree over the value of vitamin pills, but no one even claims that any normal and reasonable use of them can do harm. In the case of Vitamin C, one of the most widely used dietary supplements, it is known that there is almost no limit on the amount that may be safely consumed.

Nevertheless, the Federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has drafted regulations, soon to take effect, to require a doctor's prescription for the purchase of vitamins. Approximately 80 per cent of all vitamins and minerals now sold would be prohibited from sale under the FDA rule.

The argument of the FDA and the doctors who favor these restrictions is not that most users of vitamin and mineral dietary supplements are endangering their health, but that they do not actually need the supplements. But since when has the Federal Government been given the power and responsibility, to say nothing of the right, to decide whether people "really need" what they buy? The potential for tyranny in this kind of paternalism is unlimited.

Congressman Jack Conlan of Arizona has introduced legislation designed to strike down the FDA restriction on vitamin purchase by defining dietary supplements as food rather than as drugs. He says: "I don't question the FDA's right to ban sale of toxic or dangerous substances, except under controlled circumstances. But this ban against the normal sale of vitamins and minerals has to be one of the most absurd abuses of federal regulatory powers imaginable." HLH

Inside Labor

Inside White House:

Nixon Backs Brennan In Finish Fight With Meany

WASHINGTON– Unless it's a matter of considerable agitation, irritation, or global impact, President Nixon rarely talks "shop" at breakfast with the family in their White House living quarters. But the other day he did discuss labor chief George Meany's war with Labor Secretary Pete Brennan. The President was irritated by Meany's shillelagh blows and rapier thrusts at the Cabinet member from Hell's Kitchen.

This so impressed daughter Julie Nixon Eisenhower that she uncharacteristically questioned Brennan when they found themselves hitching a ride together from Boston on a government plane. It even took priority over Watergate.

No minor matter, this feud. Meany's intimates say he wants Pete's scalp-- which means forcing the President of the U.S. to purge a Cabinet member. And Brennan's intimates say that what Pete says is unprintable.

He says he's not quitting. And that the President will not fire him. For the moment he has Mr. Nixon's support. The President has slapped at the all-powerful labor chief of chiefs several times publicly and privately.

Dick Nixon is irked, especially during this Watergate time, by Meany's relentless attacks upon him as well as his domestic and foreign policies. Rarely can the President open his mouth without Meany hitting him with razor- edged denunciatory news releases.

Meany's official newspaper is loaded with buzzsaw headlines. Thus the word is spread across the land saying, in effect, we've broken with "him." Economic control Phases 1, 2, and 3 are described as "complete, miserable failures."

Meany hasn't had so much fun since his home run days on Bronx sandlot ball teams. But this slugging isn't funny to the President. Loss of labor's support on foreign policy could hamstring him abroad just as Watergate is hampering him at home.

To save Brennan, the President will have to give the Labor Secretary something to deliver to the powerful inner establishment of labor--- the building and construction trades. And Brennan knows just what the boys want.

It's something called common situs picketing, which has been illegal for some 18 years. It sounds technical but isn't. The construction unions want it more than a housewife wants a 50- cents- a- pound prime cut of beef.

If the unions could get a bill through Congress that would give them the right of common situs picketing, they would be able to tie up a multi-billion dollar project with a lone picket even if there were no labor disputes with 99 per cent of the employers.

Now let's look at the plans to construct the fantastic and futuristic new international Stewart Airport near Newburgh, N.Y. Total construction costs through 1990 are estimated to run between $850 million and $1 billion. Every day's delay after "the job" is started could cost hundreds of thousands of dollars. Suppose one subcontractor hires a non-union carpenter to build a small lunch "wagon" on the site.

The unions would like to picket the entire site, not just the little eatery. Under today's law they cannot picket such a project which has multi-employers and multi- unions because there is a dispute with one of the subcontractors.

So the building and construction unions have been lobbying for repeal of this ruling for almost two decades. And they cheered Brennan recently when he told them, referring to the repeal, "You need this and you need it badly... and I hope that President Nixon will be able to come out and support it very strongly."

Pete told his building trades friends that he has talked about this with the President and it looks good.

Meany is aware of the glistening bait. He, as an old plumber, knows exactly how attractive this is to the hard hat bloc. So he knows he's in a fight not only with a politically dexterous ex- union chief like Brennan, Nelson Rockefeller's companion for years, but with a politically knowledgeable President who's probably the only chief executive ever to understand "common situs picketing" and the powerful weapon it can be.

So Meany is taking them both on. He now believes they want to purge him. So he's set to attempt to outmaneuver them in the fight for the labor constituency.

Meany is on several key boards--- Productivity, Industrial Peace and the Cost of Living Council's Labor-Management Advisory Committee. If he walks off, so will his AFL— CIO colleagues. This would leave Nixon with Teamsters' chief Frank Fitzsimmons again (whom Meany is scalding regularly too), and with the auto union's Leonard Woodcock (who almost became George McGovern's running mate, and who would probably quit too). So this isn't just a power play of pique.

Here, too, the prestige of the President, the White House, the Cabinet, and the power of Prof. John Dunlop's Cost of Living Council is at stake-- thus, the economy of the nation itself. Meany rarely plays penny- ante politics. Not where labor's national power is at stake.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Did GOP Stash Cash in Secret Swiss Account?

WASHINGTON– Of the hundreds of thousands in unaudited cash stashed in GOP safes across the country, there are whispers some money wound up in a secret Swiss bank account.

We have established that Alan MacQuoid, a minor Republican functionary in Los Angeles County, paid a mysterious call at the Swiss Credit Bank of Zurich on February 12. In the long-distance interviews, he admitted visiting the Swiss bank but refused to discuss the details except to say his business with the bank was "strictly personal."

He told us he was close to President Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert Kalmbach, who kept around $500,000 in Nixon campaign funds in a California bank account. At least some of this money, according to investigators, was used to pay for political spying and sabotage.

MacQuoid also acknowledged he had been incontact with other persons involved in the Watergate case but vigorously denied any involvement himself.

'No Comment'

We asked MacQuoid specifically whether he served as a conduit for money used in the Watergate escapade or other espionage activities. He paused about 10 seconds and answered "no comment." He told my associate Jack Cloherty, however, that he had not had any previous dealings with the Swiss bank.

Our sources say MacQuoid flew to Switzerland ostensibly on a ski trip. He left Los Angeles on Scandinavian Airlines charter flight C- 1219 with a group called "The Far West Ski Association" on February 10. Two days later, he slipped into the Swiss Credit Bank. He returned to Los Angeles on flight C- 1225 on February 25.

Through an attorney, Kalmbach denied knowing MacQuoid.

Sources close to the Watergate investigation, meanwhile, tell us at least $500,000 was spent in an attempt to hush up the scandal. Wiretapper James McCord alone deposited $60,000 in a Riggs National Bank account immediately after the Watergate trial. Investigators say he collected, all told, around $100,000.

Mrs. Liddy's

Concern

As early as August 7, Watergate ringleader G. Gordon Liddy's wife rented a safety deposit box at the Marine Midland Bank in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

She also left a padlocked trunk in the bank's "silver storage room." Branch manager George Harnen told us Mrs. Liddy "expressed concern as to who would have access to the safe deposit box." She asked specifically whether "the authorities" could get into the box or trunk. The FBI, however, hasn't yet contacted the bank about the Liddy deposits, Harnen told us.

Our story has also been confirmed that Mrs. E. Howard Hunt, the late wife of the other Watergate ringleader, handed out cash to the burglary-bugging squad. She was killed in a Chicago airliner crash, with $10,000 in $100 bills in her purse. Hunt has told friends they intended to invest the money in a motel rather than keep it in a bank, where it could be easily traced.

Probably never in the history of American politics has so much loose cash been floating around.

Washinggon Whirl

SKY POSTS: The White House has ordered three new Boeing 747s for the President to use as airborne command posts in case of war. The Air Force confirmed reports that hangars are now being planned at Andrews Air Force Base outside of Washington for the planes.

BANGLADESH'S BOOKKEEPING: The bedeviled bureaucrats of Bangladesh are so fouled up in paper work that more than $100 million in American aid has yet to be turned over to the ravaged and impoverished land. The United States has given Bangladesh $40 million for tallow, cotton, pesticides, fertilizer and the like. This has been received and spent. Another $105 million is available to pay for schools, generators, coastal repairs and other construction. But under law, the United States cannot turn it over until Bangladesh vouches for the spending. So far, this has proved too complicated for the new nation's harrassed clerks.

EAGLE SCANDAL: Representative John Dingell, D- Mich., has written an infuriated letter to Interior Secretary Rogers Morton complaining that two accused killers of bald eagles are getting federal grazing privileges on public land. Dingell said the privileges have been accorded Dean Visintainer of Craig, Colo., and Herman Werner of Casper, Wyo., who "were named in the shotgun slayings of up to 635 bald and golden eagles." Dingell says he may hold public hearings if Morton can't explain satisfactorily how the eagle slayers got federal grazing permits.

GAUZZA'S TRAVELS: George Gauzza, an enterprising Interior Department official, has apparently been smitten with wanderlust. Last year, we caught Gauzza taking an "official" trip to Guam and Saipan. He was going to San Francisco anyway, it was explained, so he "decided that while on the coast, he might as well go on" to the Far East-- a 6,194- mile afterthought. This winter, Gauzza spent 10 days in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands-- on "official business," of course.

ERA given 2nd chance

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the U.S. Constitution got a new lease on life in the Missouri Legislature, but it may be only a short reprieve, according to the speaker of the house.

The ERA was approved for floor action by a 7-4 vote in a closed session of the House Constitutional Aendments Committee Monday. The committee action ended several weeks of behind-the-scenes manuevering and speculation about the ERA's fate.

Reportedly the ERA had been defeated in another session of the committee several weeks before.

House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, said he thought the resolution to adopt the ERA had a "pretty good chance" for passage in the House, but added, "I don't think the Senate will change its mind."

After public hearings on the proposal, the Senate Judiciary Committee voted 7-3 not to send the ERA to the Senate floor for open debate.

House Majority Leader Kenneth Rothman, D-Clayton, said the proposal would come up for debate this week "for sure," but said he had not selected a specific day.

Thirty states out of the necessary 38 have approved the measure which says:

"Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

After its approval by Congress and quick passage by 22 states, the honeymoon for the ERA came to an end.

Resistence to the ERA grew as its opponents warned it would threaten the American family as a social unit. Opponents, including Missouri's first woman state senator, Mary Gant, D-Kansas City, said it would flood the courts with litigation and cause women to be drafted and sent to combat.

ERA advocates say the measure would give women a constitutional wedge against job discrimination.

Following public hearings on the ERA that filled the huge House Chamber for two nights, Constitutional Committee Chairman Howard Hines, D-Independence, referred the ERA to a sub-committee to study the proposal's affect on Missouri laws.

At that time one of the ERA's opponents predicted it would be "studied to death" by the subcommittee.

"Better a bald head than none at all." (Austin O'Malley)

Judical Review recommends that Swink be suspended

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Circuit Judge J. O. Swink of Farmington should be suspended for 30 days, a State Judicial Review Commission has recommended to the Missouri Supreme Court.

The charges brought to the State Commission on Retirement, Removal and Discipline of Judges were made public Monday, and included:

—That Swink used court library funds to put air condition in his office.

—That he falsely accused the local prosecutor of misappropriating $50.

—That he said he would impose strict rules on highway patrolmen in his courtroom because his court reporter was given a traffic ticket.

—That in and out of the courtroom he called St. Francois County Prosecutor Stanley Murphy such names as "Pin Head Murphy," "Psycopath," "Son of A Bitch," and "Poor White Trash."

The commission found the charges to be true and declared Swink guilty of "misconduct."

Swink, judge of the 24th Judicial Circuit of Madison, Perry, St. Francois and Ste. Genevieve counties, has 30 days to file an answer to the supreme court.

The commission, chaired by Robert G. Dowd, chief judge of the Missouri Court of Appeals in St. Louis, was comprised of two lawyers, two laymen and two judges. They conducted hearings in February.

Swink, 67, admitted in testimony before the commission he felt officers of the court should be given preferential treatment by law enforcement officers.

The commission found that Swink wrote a letter to Sgt. Darwin James of the Missouri Highway Patrol after Darwin had given a ticket for careless driving to Swink's court reporter, Walter Sontag.

The commission found that Swink said all troopers thereafter could not carry their firearms in court and the troopers would be required to remain in attendance throughout the trial.

The commission's report said that would be unreasonable.

The commission report to the supreme court also said Swink admitted that funds accumulated for a law library for St. Francois County were used to air condition his chambers, the courtroom and the prosecuting attorney's office, and to partially paint the courtroom.

No such library was maintained in St. Francois County, Swink admitted in testimony, the commission report said.

One commissioner disagreed with the conclusion on the renovations because he felt Swink did not intentionally violate any law.

The commission said Swink was under stress because of his wife's illness.

Thirty-two witnesses were called in the hearings.

Mrs. Cline reviews history of Jefferson City

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles giving a wife's point of view of Life in Jefferson City by Mrs. Kay Cline, wife of C. F. Cline, representative of the 159th District.)

By KAY CLINE

This is the first of a series of articles on the State Capitol and how Jefferson City became the permanent site.

First, I will give you some background information.

The Louisiana Purchase opened the doors to the West in 1803. Many of the early settlers did not go any farther than Missouri. By 1820, the early settlers wanted full-fledged statehood. The first meeting was held at St. Louis Mansion House Hotel, where the territorial legislature formed and adopted the state's first constitution. On Aug. 10, 1821, Missouri was admitted as the 24th state under the provisins of the Missouri Compromise.

A small two-story brick building in St. Charles served as the temporary seat of government until 1826 where a permanent site, Jefferson City was selected overlooking the Missouri River. Twice a State House was built and twice destroyed by fire. Then a new site was chosen for the Capitol.

A ground- breaking ceremony for the present Capitol was held in 1913. This building was designed by Tracy and Swartwont of New York City.

There are many exquisite statues around the capitol grounds. Atop the lantern dome, 260 feet above ground, is the bronze figure of Ceres, goddess of agriculture, who of all the classic divinities, is the best qualified to be the patron goddess of this great agricultural state. On her left arm she bears a sheaf of grain. Her right hand extends forward and downward in perpetual blessing.

At the capitol's main entrance is the commanding bronze statute of Thomas Jefferson. He is set on a pedestal of granite. The statue is 13 feet tall. Jefferson was the man responsible for the Louisiana Purchase and for moving the flag of the United States west of the Misssisippi River.

On either side of the stairway leading to the main entrance are two reclining bronze figures symbolizing the state's two great rivers. A male figure represents the Mississippi River with the rudder of commerce and the caducreus, the magic wand of Hermes. He adequately typifies the "Father of the West."

The female figure surrounded by corn, wheat and the fruits of the earth symbolizes the Missouri River. Both rivers served as important water highways for the early explorers, fur traders and settlers. The four sides of the bronze bases on which these figures repose are decorated with low relief, representing the action element.

The flag poles are placed symmetrically in front of the Capitol. They are made of Oregon pine and rise 50 feet above the ground. They are set deep in massive foundations of cement.These are surmounted by octagonal plinths of Missouri marble 14 feet in diameter. These bronze bases are fine in design, beautiful in modeling. They are examples of the bronze casters' art. Among the rich ornamental designs are the state seal and the American Eagle. On the fourth sides of each base are representations of the four seasons. A bronze American Eagle is placed on the top of the flag poles, "Old Glory" floats from the one and the Missouri State Flag from the other."

There are two stately foundations placed within the lawn at the south front of the capitol. They are characterized by simplicity and dignity. Each fountain has two basins, a lower of 35 feet and an upper of 11 feet in diameter.

In the center of each, a massiave pillar with appropriate architectural moldings supports the upper basin and is further ornamented with four, beautiful, sculptured figures. Those in the fountain to the east of the drive represent the sciences, those on the west fountain represent the arts. The arts and sciences must ever be guardians of the welfare of the state, so these two fountains stand as sentinels on either side of the entrance to the Capitol.

To the north of the capitol, overlooking the Missouri River are the sculptured figures of the fountain which Weinman has sought to contrast with Bitter's work of the bronze relief depicting the signing of the treaty for the Louisiana Purchase by Robert Livingston, James Monroe and Francois Barbe Morbois.

Weinman has gone back to the times when the world was young and the vivid imagination of the old Greek people, the woods and the streams with many fantastic beings. He has recreated the fabled cenaurs, halfman and half animal, and placed in his fountain these two straining powerful figures are in fierce struggle with the serpent and with the fish.

They delightfully throw streams of water over the muscular brutes. The centaurs symbolize for us the barbaric forces which in the distant past contended with the primitive nature in the fair land of ours. The urchins suggest the joyousness of young animal life even in those distant days.

SeMo U. will honor those of distinction

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State University plans to recognize, during its centennial celebration, a small number of individuals who have distinguished themselves greatly and brought honor to the institution, according to Dr. David Strand, dean of the university.

The university will observe its 100th birthday during the 1973-74 academic year, which begins in August.

Dr. Strand, chairman of the centennial honors and awards committee, said today is the deadline for persons outside the university community to submit nominations.

Nominations received will be channeled to the appropriate academic unit of the university which will, in turn, review them and send its recommendations back to the honors and awards committee.

Dean Strand said the committee will choose a group of persons representative of the entire academic program at Southeast Missouri State, although there is not likely to be an honoree from each department.

"We're going to be highly selective," Dean Strand said, adding that as few as 10 individuals may be chosen.

Nominations should be made according to the following criteria:

The individual must have been a student at or employed by the school. (This would make persons who attend the university for a short time, graduates and faculty members eligible.)

The individual need not be alive today. (This would permit persons who made contributions during the early history of the institution to be nominated.)

Nominations must be accompanied by a biographical sketch noting the contributions of the individual to the school, his discipline, education and society, etc.

Ann Landers

Ann prints prayer to help smokers trying to break habit

Dear Ann Landers: I prayed this prayer and then read it on the phone to a friend whose children have been experimenting with cigaret smoking. She said, "Please sent it to Ann Landers. Share it with her and maybe she will share it with others!" So--- here it is:

"Help me, O Lord, to put these terrible things out of my life. Help to keep me busy, so busy that I don't have time to think about my need for them. And don't let me turn to eating as a substitute. I don't need THAT either. Guide me in the use of the time, energy and money I will have saved when I get these hideous coffin nails out of my life. Help me, O Lord, to make good decisions.

"I have tried to stop before, as You know, and have failed. Now I ask Your help, for I know I cannot do it alone. I am ashamed that I have caused others discomfort and concern. I hope I can make it up to them, somehow. Thanks, O Lord, for the strength that I need to conquer this awful habit. With Your help I can climb mountains."--- Katie In Indiana

Dear Katie: Here it is---- to be shared by millions. My thanks and best wishes. I hope your prayer is answered. Let me know in three months.

Dear Ann Landers: I work with the public and my appearance is an important part of my job. I've been told that for a woman in her early 60s I am very attractive.

Now I have a problem, which is mostly a matter of conscience. I had a serious gum infection a few months ago and the dentist told me I had to have all my teeth extracted. I did so on a holiday weekend and returned to work the following Tuesday. The dentures the dentist made are a work of art, the most natural I have ever seen. Two steady customers have commented on my pretty teeth. Both said, "I never noticed how lovely they are till now."

I just smiled and said, "Thank you," but I feel like a fraud--- especially since some of my colleagues know the truth. I'd like your advice.--- Smiling Through

Dear Smiling: Accept the compliments graciously. The teeth are yours. You paid for them.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been the secretary and good right arm to a wonderful boss for seven years. His wife is a social climber who is also a nagger and a screamer. She has a habit of telephoning him in the middle of meetings, insists that I put him on, and her voice can be heard all over the conference room. It is humiliating beyond belief.

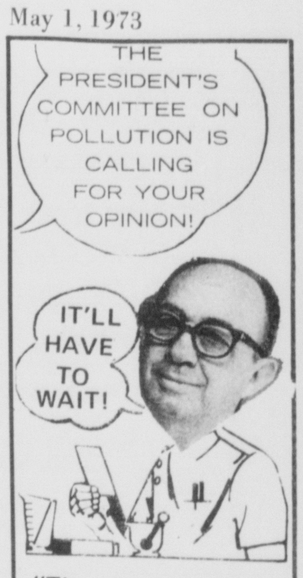

As you may have suspected, I have fallen in love with him, although I've fought against it for years. I have an idea that he is somewhat aware of my feelings although nothing has been verbalized. Eventually this marriage is going to collapse. He can't take the abuse much longer.

Last week I received a fine job offer across the street. Should I take it--- or wait around and pick up the pieces?--- Faith, Hope But No Charity

Dear F.H. But No C.: Take the job offer. When (or if) the boss's marriage collapses he can walk across the street. If he wants to.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking And Petting-- What Are The Limits?" Send your request to

Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclsoing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"The most important thing we'll do today is fill your prescription!"

Homers fly

LILBOURN -- Coach Ted Mauk's Panthers literally bombed the visiting Gideon Bulldogs, slugging four homeruns to overpower their Tri-County foe 9-5.

Gideon wasn't without their heroics as pitcher Larry Hart blasted a Grant Dambach pitch in the top of the first inning with two mates aboard to take a 3-0 lead after one frame.

Lilbourn came roaring back in their half of the second inning to plate two runs and pull within one 3-2 going into the third.

Panther pitchers Dambach and Mitchell Allen, the eventual winner, held Gideon at bay to give Lilbourn the opportunity to catch the Bulldogs in the bottom of the third. Greg Weeks smacked his third homer of the season with two on to give Lilbourn a 5-3 lead.

Larry Hart was relieved by Tom Nowlin and Lilbourn went to work as Johnny Baker, Tom Maschmeyer, and Grant Dambach hit back- to - back homers to lead off the bottom of the fourth inning. The blast by Baker was his first of the year. Maschmeyer has four and Dambach hit his sixth.

With Lilbourn leading 8-3, Gideon scored single runs in the fifth and seventh. Lilbourn added their final run in the sixth. Lilbourn is 7-2 for the year.

SPORTS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Welterweight boxer Isaac Quintas, who underwent brain surgery after collapsing in the Olympic Auditorium ring on Thursday, has been removed from the critical list and is "awake, alert and doing quite well," a County-USC Medical Center spokesman said.

Quintas, 25, from Mexico, collapsed after losing a decision to Renato Garcia of Chile. Doctors performed a three hour operation to remove pressure from a blood clot.

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — It wasn't much of a baseball season for the Yellow Jackets of LeTourneau College. The team won five games and lost 12.

But the Yellow Jackets surpassed a lot of teams in one particular department. They had 18 games rained out.

Panther star

Grant Dambach heads for home after slamming a home run against the Gideon Bulldogs Monday afternoon, it was the fourth of the game for the Panthers.

Birk stops Charleston

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Righthander Mike Birk lacked two batters pitching a perfect no- hitter as an error allowed one to reach base and a hit batsman allowed another, to spoil the perfect portion of the game but Birk held on to the no- hitter beating the Charleston Bluejays in the District baseball tournament here Monday 4-0.

Birk and Steve Ritchey of the Bluejays hooked up in a classic pitching duel for four innings but Ritchey gave a little in the top of the fifth and let the Tigers cross the plate with what eventually turned out to be the winning run but Cape Central added three insurance runs in the top of the sixth to advance to the second round of the district tournament.

Ritchey allowed only five singles in the game and struckout five in taking the loss. Birk fanned 10 Bluejays.

The vote was held Monday.

Stag BEER®

invites you to go to bat for recycling

Earn this Little League aluminum baseball bat by collecting aluminum cans!

This $9.95 value is yours when you bring 50 pounds of aluminum cans to a Stag recycling center.

Here's an even better reward for pitching in to recycling. Bring 50 pounds of aluminum cans—Stag's or anyone else's—to your Stag recycling center.

Ordinarily Stag pays you 10¢ a pound (about one half-cent a can) for the aluminum. Now you'll earn twice that in the form of an official aluminum baseball bat. (Of course, you can have the cash at 10¢ a pound, if you prefer.)

It's a great team project. Aluminum bats won't chip, splinter or break, so one bat serves an entire team.

Help clean up your neighborhood and get a jump on your summer sports fun. Go to bat for recycling. Offer for limited time only.

Return aluminum cans to your Stag Beer recycling center.

First baseman Mike Kelly was the leading hitter for Delta blasting out two triples and knocking in four runs. Troy Martin had two runs batted in with a double. Delta banged out nine hits in the game.

Poplar Bluff eliminated

POPLAR BLUFF — Doniphan fell to Fredericktown in first round action of baseball district play Monday. The Blackcats managed to squeeze past the 1-0.

John Burnam not on base and made his way to second on a steal. An error advanced him to third where John National hit a single to bring him in to win the game.

Larry cruse had the shutout for Blackcats while Joyner took the loss.

SHS athletes busy

Tennis and baseball at SHS move into subdistrict action this week as the netters go to Kennett Wednesday and Coach N.P. McDaniel's baseballers visit Capaha Park in Cape Girardeau Thursday to face the Jackson Indians. The golfers and tracksters each have one meet slated for this week as a "tuning up" for their respective district competition next week.

BASEBALL

Sikeston's diamond crew, unseeded in the SEMO district baseball classic, will face the third- seeded Jackson Indians in a four o'clock battle at Capaha in Cape Girardeau on Thursday. The Bulldogs, 3-2 so far this season, are hopeful of an upset which could give them a rematch with the second-seeded Poplar Bluff Mules this Monday at V.F.W. stadium. Cape Central has been seeded first in the tournament with one lone loss totheir account; that loss coming at the hands of the Bulldogs last Friday afternoon, 5-3.

SHS was slated to host Meridian High School of Mounds, Illinois in a four o'clock contest today, but for the fourteenth time this spring rain has been the forecast for the day of the game.

TENNIS

Coach John Heacox's netmen finished out the 1973 season last week with an 8-2-1 mark and are odds-on favorites to repeat as subdistrict and district champs this year.

Competing in singles in the subdistrict at Kennett are Matt Matthews and Jeff Robey. Matthews captured a third place finish in the competition in 1972 as a sophomore and is a serious contender again this year.

The number one and three doubles teams from district play last year return to the courts for Sikeston tomorrow afternoon. David Hahs and Brad Buchanan are defending district doubles champs and will be fighting to retain that status. Bill Colwick and Bill Lewis hope to improve on their third place seat from last year, which would qualify them for the state tournament in Columbia May 18 and 19.

GOLF

The golfers, winless in seven meets this season, will host the Perryville Pirate duffers Thursday afternoon in hopes of "hitting the groove" for district action this Monday at Westwood Hills Country Club in Poplar Bluff. As of late, Coach Robert Buchanan's bogeymen have been turning in good scores, only to be bettered by hot- shooting opponents.

TRACK

Coach Jim Graham's thinclads were on the road this afternoon as they competed in the Kennett invitational at four o'clock. The meet this afternoon will be the last opportunity for many of the tracksters to turn in qualifying times for the district meet at Northwest High School in House Springs May 11.

Hornets, Cards win

CHAFFEE--- In the District baseball tournament here Monday afternoon the Advance Hornets and Woodland Cardinals had an easy time of winning as Advance romped over Meadow Heights 15- 2 and Woodland downed Oak Ridge 10-0.

Advance toyed with Meadow Heights until the bottom of the fourth inning when the Hornets showed the Panthers how to hit the ball and scored 14 runs to subdue their foe.

John Crowe pitched two and two- thirds innings to pickup the win, allowing two hits. Dennis Dunivan finished up the game. Fred Garland took the loss. Emerson and Clayton hit doubles for the Hornets. Advance takes on Notre Dame Wednesday afternoon in second round action.

Woodland pushed across a run in the bottom of the first inning and added five more in the third to breeze past the Jays.

Mark Jordan won the game and Joe Morrison took the loss. McCormick and Robbins hit doubles for the Cardinals.

Football cards schedule set

ST. LOUIS, Mo.-- Five home games in the first eight weeks, including the opening two against playoff teams Washington and Oakland, highlight the Football Cardinals schedule for 1973, it was announced Monday. The season kicks off September 16 with the Big Red at Philadelphia.

The home- opener against the Redskins, defending NFC and Eastern Division champions, is set a week later on September 23. Following a road trip to Dallas, the Big Red will battle the Raiders here on October 7-- the first meeting ever between the two teams.

The three- week salvo of Washington, Dallas and Oakland will serve as a rugged NFL welcome for new Cardinal coach Don Coryell.

Besides the home dates with the Redskins and Raiders, the Big Red will entertain Eastern Division rivals Dallas, New York Giants and Philadelphia, and nondivision opponents Detroit and Denver. All home games will be on Sundays, with kickoff at 1:05 p.m., St. Louis time.

On the road, the Cardinals will visit each of their four division members and also make trips to Green Bay, Atlanta and Cincinnati-- marking their first regular season game ever against the Bengals. Coupled with the Oakland and Denver home games, the Big Red will have met every NFL team at least once in regular- season competition following the 1973 season.

The five home games during the first eight weeks is a reversal from last year when the Cardinals were at home only three times in the first nine weeks. This year, the Big Red has three straight road dates during November-- the first time that has happened since the team opened the 1964 season with five straight road appearances.

The Cardinals will meet the Redskins and Eagles twice each during the season's first six weeks, entertaining Philadelphia on October 14 and visiting Washington a week later. Then the Big Red comes home for two straight games--- against the Giants on October 28 and Denver on November 4.

After that, St. Louis begins its three- game road trip, visiting Green Bay on November 11, the Giants a week later and Cincinnati on November 25. The Cardinals return to Busch Stadium on December 2 to face Detroit, marking the Lions' first St. Louis appearance since 1967.

The final road game of the year comes on December 9 at Atlanta, and the Cardinals will close out the regular season a week later at home against the Cowboys.

The Big Red's two home pre- season games were previously announced--- against the New York Jets in the Cardinal Glennon Hospital benefit game on August 25 and the Kansas City Chiefs on September 7.

The 1973 Cardinal schedule (all starting times adjusted to St. Louis time):

Sept. 16-- at Philadelphia, noon
Sept. 23-- Washington, 1:05 p.m.
Sept. 30-- at Dallas, 1 p.m.
Oct. 7-- Oakland, 1:05 p.m.
Oct. 14-- Philadelphia, 1:05 p.m.
Oct. 21-- at Washington, noon
Oct. 28-- New York Giants, 1:05 p.m.
Nov. 4-- Denver, 1:05 p.m.
Nov. 11-- at Green Bay, 1 p.m.
Nov. 18-- at New York Giants, noon
Nov. 25-- at Cincinnati, noon

USDA orders Dexter firm to stop payment violations

WASHINGTON — Dexter Packg Company, Inc. of Dexter, Mo., has been ordered to stop violating payment requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) said today.

The firm purchases livestock, poultry and meat in Southeast Missouri and western Tennessee.

The firm consented to issuance of the order. It waived oral hearing, and neither admitted nor denied the charges contained in an administrative complaint filed by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration.

USDA Judicial Officer Donald A. Campbell ordered the firm to cease and desist from:

-- Issuing insufficient funds checks or drafts in payment for livestock, poultry and meat; and

-- Failing to pay, when due, the full purchase price of livestock, poultry and meat.

The cease and desist order -- like a permanent injunction -- was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act.

Meat packers are required -- under the P&S Act -- to pay promptly for livestock, poultry, and meat.

The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law. It promotes and maintains fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat. The act is administered on a nondiscriminatory basis.

The record in this case is open to the public. Copies of this order, P&S Docket 4767, may be obtained from the Information Officer, Packers and Stockyards Administration, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Lamkin gets high Rotary award

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Robert E. L. Lamkin, who in 1919 helped to establish the Cape Girardeau Rotary Club, received one of the international service organization's highest awards in ceremonies Saturday forenoon at the annual conference of the 40 clubs in the southeast Missouri Rotary District.

His fellow club members took the occasion of a program on the Rotary Foundation — an educational body with a variety of educational programs to further international understanding — to make him a Paul Harris Fellow.

Paul Harris was the founder of Rotary in Chicago in 1905, and the award is named for him. It is given any Rotarian who gives $1,000 or in whose honor that sum is given to the foundation. The Cape Girardeau Rotary Club recently made a $1,000 contribution to the foundation and named Lamkin its choice as a fellow.

The presentation was made by S. David Patterson, president of the Cape Girardeau Club, the 448th to be admited to Rotary International, now one of 15,500 in 149 countris. Patterson noted Lamkin was a charter member of the club here with 54 years service to it. He was president in 1941-42.

With the award went a plaque, a lapel pin and a medal designating Lamkin as a Paul Harris Fellow. He is the second in District 609, to receive the award. The club at Farmington earlier had designated Lawrence Burns, a past district governor, for the honor.

Present for the ceremony were Lamkin's two sons and daughter- in- law, Mr. and Mrs. Re. E. L. Lamkin Jr., and John T. Lmakin and Lamkin's granddaughter, Mrs. Richard D. Kinder.

Earlier in the foundation program, Mr. and Mrs. Ain Utt of Melbourn, Australia, were interviewed by John L.Blue, district Rotary Foundation chairman, on their experiences under a foundation grant at the University of Missouri- Rolla. Utt will receive his degree in chemical engineering next month. He is at Rolla under a foundation technical grant, one of several programs.

More than 400 Rotarians and their wives crowded into the university's memorial Hall ballroom for the closing banquet Saturday night. The guest speaker, Dr. Tom Haggai, said the United States has many problems that must be tackled, but he stressed they will not be solved through constant criticism of the country.

"The United States may be the most affluent country in the world, but it is also the most depressed in spirit," Dr. Haggai declared. He said the Indochina war and economic ills can take some of the blame.

"There is more than these reasons behind it, however," he said. Americans, he pointed out, "need high motivation and confidence in the midst of our troubles. In everything we should give thanks to God."

Dr. Haggai, an author, radio commentator, public speaker and former minister from High Point, N. C., received loud applause as he hailed former prisoners of war in North Vietnam who expressed thanks to God upon setting foot on American soil. He received a standing ovation when he criticized anti- war actress Jane Fonda for her trips to North Vietnam.

"If Miss Fonda likes the Hanoi Hilton (a POW camp) so well, she should live there," Dr. Haggai said.

"I wasn't surprised when the POWs came home and said 'God bless America,' " he continued. "The POWs learned how to be thankful."

He urged Americans to give thanks for the blessings they have received. "God has blessed this country," he said. "America has horrendous faults, and one of the greatest is a lack of optimism. Perhaps the trouble is that we have had too much.

"We must not overlook the faults," Dr. Haggai said. "But we must be committed to help. We cannot just throw our country away like a broken toy."

What's the law?

The case of the terrible bridge player

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Karen loved the game of bridge with even more passion than Anthony loved Cleopatra. Unfortunately, her neighbor's parrot Bruno shared her passion. Whenever Karen would sit down with her foursome, Bruno couldn't resist the temptation to kibitz from across a narrow alleyway that separated their two apartments.

The payoff came, however, when Karen trumped her partner's ace one afternoon, which in the game of bridge was a crime worse than murder. And blaming her error on the kibitzing parrot, Karen served notice on her landlord that she was going to vacate her apartment and she did so.

Without ado, Karen's landlord started an action against his erstwhile tenant to collect all rent due under the unexpired term of her lease.

"I had a right to move," insisted Karen in court. "Whenever I played bridge, I'd make mistakes because of comments made by the parrot next door. And when you got right down to it, he wasn't any better a player than I was."

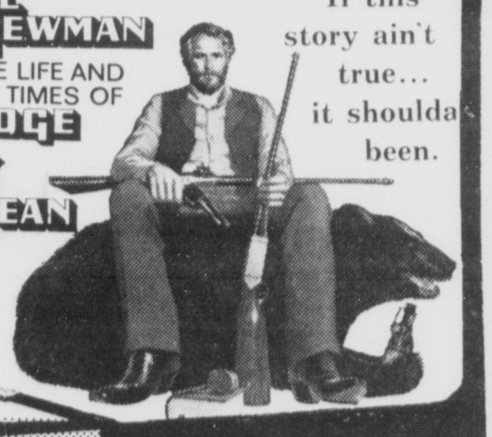

"It's not my fault Bruno was such a terrible bridge player," retorted the insensitive landlord. "All I know is that Karen ran out before her lease did and I've got to be paid."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Karen pay for trying to elude the kabitzing parrot?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that Karen had no right to break her lease because a parrot was obviously ignorant of bridge etiquette that permits no one to talk above a whisper. At any rate, concluded the judge, a landlord is not responsible to a tenant for the conduct of a third party even if the third party happens to be a parrot.

Vandals hit

Vandals broke into the junior high school sometime over the weekend, causing about $50 worth of damage in the girls' dressing room, according to police.

Police said a hammer was apparently used to break the lock off a cabinet and bowling balls were taken out and scattered around. Cigarette butts were also found in the Home Economics room.

How the vandals entered the building is unknown.

Secretary Elliot Richardson, whom Nixon has nominated as attorney general and put in over-all charge of the Watergate investigation, and the newly named acting director of the FBI, William D. Ruckelshaus.

The aim, Ziegler said, was "to physically protect the files to make sure that access and removal of any files were supervised in accordance with very strict procedure."

The Watergate investigation has produced allegations that some vital documents were removed from the White House and destroyed.

Asked why the White House police had not been given this security duty, Ziegler said he was not sure. But, he said, this "was an initial step" ordered by the three Watergate probe chiefs.

Cline to open office May 4

Rep. C. F. Cline, D-Sikeston, will open his district office May 4 in room 213 of the Sikeston Activity Center. While the legislature is in session, the office will be open on Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

Rep. Cline had promised during his campaign last year that he would have a district office in both Scott and Stoddard counties. A district office in the courthouse at Bloomfield has already been opened.

Official Missouri road maps, brochures on state parks and other material will be available in the office.

The Sikeston Activity Center is located at 201 South Kingshighway in the former First Baptist Church building, directly across from the Missouri Employment Security office.

helps draft laws, and the Fiscal Affairs Committee, which aids lawmakers in arriving at costs for state government spending.

The Senate tentatively approved a bill to set up a Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Services Division in the Department of Social Services. It would replace the State Board of Training Schools and administer programs and facilities under a juvenile justice system.

It was approved by a 14-13 vote despite criticisms by some senators that it would be a "bureaucratic dog'' and ''stack incompetents on top of incompetents."

An amendment was added to delete possible federal funds for operation. Sen. John Schneider, D-St. Louis, said that for $317,595 the state could begin the program with a central office and consultants to local communities.

In committee action Monday night, Rep. Bob Griffin, D-Cameron, told the Senate Criminal Justice Committee that persons granted immunity from prosecution on the state level would probably not be prosecuted later by federal officials.

Rivers continue to rise

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Added rainfall in Illinois and Iowa may force already swollen rivers to rise again, the river district office of the National Weather Service predicted Monday night.

Two to three inches of rain had fallen in northern portions of Iowa and Illinois Monday night and flash-flood warnings were issued in Illinois, a weather service forecaster said.

In a 45-minute period, three inches of rain fell at West Jersey, Ill., near Peoria, he said.

"Already the Kansas City forecast center is thinking in terms of some type of new crest on the Mississippi, possibly around 40 feet," the spokesman said.

Officials of the Corps of Engineers were warning families already forced from their homes during the worst flooding in history, not to return too soon, emphasizing that the rivers were still well over flood stage.

"It's not a time to relax," one corps official said.

Asked about renewed crests Monday night, a corps official said, "A lot of places that we've reinforced should be okay. If another 40 feet hits us, we will be able to withstand it without too much difficulty," he added.

The Mississippi River at St. Louis, where flood stage is 30 feet, was marked at 42.8 feet Monday after a record 43.3 crest Saturday.

Further south at Cape Girardeau, Mo., the river was at 45.4 feet Monday, but was not expected to crest until today. Flood stage at Cape Girardeau is 32 feet and the city is protected by a 52-foot flood wall.

At Chester, Ill., the river set a record crest of 43.3 feet Monday, exceeding by 3.3 feet the record set April 6.

The Missouri River was continuing to recede at St. Charles, after cresting at 36.4 feet last week. The river fell to 33.1 feet Monday and was expected to drop to 26.8 feet by Thursday.

Flood stage at St. Charles is 25 feet.
